MONEY IS TIGHT THIS YEAR FOR PARTIES' FUNDS

Both Democrats and Republicans Must Work to Fill Exchequers

Washington—(P)—The national political committees are finding it hard digging for gold these days.

Reports from the Republican and Democratic committees for the third quarter just filed with the clerk of the house under the corrupt practices act, show both parties need help.

The Republican balance for the period ending Sept. 1, was reduced from $53,062 to $14,624, despite contributions of $33,719 during the three months.

Democrats went into September with a balance of $9,785 but were forced to call on Chairman John J. Raskob for $30,000 in additional loans in the quarter running his total in loans to $325,250.

Meanwhile, the Democrats are preparing to solicit a million dollars with which to retire the Raskob loans and other notes amounting to more than $400,000 in order that they may start the next campaign clear of indebtedness.

Republican leaders also are giving much consideration to their financial outlook. New conferences between Joseph R. Nutt, their treasurer, and the party chieftains, are to be held here shortly, with a view to laying plans to replenish their funds. Elections were not held that the national committees have maintained the more elaborate national headquarters now in operation here. Active and salaried directors are at the helm of each organization now and they have full sized publicity staffs, constantly busy issuing statements.

Expenditures Grow
The committee's reports to the house show each is spending more than $10,000 a month.

Speculation continues over a change in the chairmanship of the Republican national committee but it is just gossip so far. Senator Fess of Ohio, who took the chairmanship upon the resignation of Claudius H. Huston recently said he would carry on until the June conventions next year. He has intimated to friends, however, that he might retire earlier if he found the duties interfered with his senatorial work next session.

The report that friends of President Hoover were considering William M. Butler of Massachusetts, the chairman under Calvin Coolidge, as a successor to Senator Fess attracted local attention. It is known that some of the Hoover forces are concerned over a possible drive for Calvin Coolidge for the Republican nomination. Further reports that Mr. Butler had suggested Charles D. Hilles of New York, one of the vice chairmen, caused politicians to ob-

CAPONE TRIAL ON TAX CHARGE OPENS OCT. 6

Judge Grants Gang King
Right to Withdraw Dry
Law Guilty Plea

Chicago — (P)—A showdown between the government and Alphonse Capone was a step nearer today.

This became apparent when the status of the charges against the gang chief was cleared somewhat by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday in granting Capone permission to withdraw his plea of guilty to an indictment charging conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. At the same time Judge Wilkerson set Oct. 6 as the date for Capone to go on trial on a charge of income tax delinquencies totalling about $2,000,000.

Michael Ahern, the gangster's lawyer moved immediately to quash the liquor indictment, but hearing on this question was continued indefinitely, subject to come up later on five day's notice from either the prosecution or the defense.

Judge Wilkerson, in ruling on the liquor case, filled a memorandum in which he allowed the defendant to change his plea of guilty to not guilty in both charges because of a compromise agreement in which the court could not concur. His reference was to reports that Capone had been promised a short sentence in return for his plea of guilty, which were current last July when Capone was allowed to withdraw his admission of guilt in the income tax case.

"The commissioner of internal revenue," the court said, "has power, with the advice and consent of the secretary of the treasury and the recommendation of the attorney general to compromise criminal liability under the internal revenue laws after suit has been commenced. The recommendation to be made to the court in these cases contemplated that the sentence to be imposed in the conspiracy case, while an independent sentence in form, was really to run concurrently with the sentence in the income tax case."

"The court has ruled that the plea of guilty must be unconditional, and that, in a hearing thereon, there can be no understanding which precludes the court from ascertaining the facts and entering, at the conclusion of the hearing, the judgment which is proper under the facts."

At the time Capone was in court last July 31, when he changed his mind about pleading guilty, Judge Wilkerson suggested that the prosecution attempt to ascertain whether Capone and 68 co-defendants named in the liquor conspiracy case, could not be indicted under the Jones law which provides heavier penalties than are possible under the conspiracy statute. The grand jury is to report tomorrow, but there has been no announcement of whether any further action has been taken.

The alleged beer business of Capone and his associates is reputed to have reached the amazing figure of $20,000,000 a year. The conspiracy indictment alleged 5,000 separate offenses.

President Hoover Pays Tribute To First Red Cross Chapter

LAUDS EFFORTS OF SOCIETY TO AID SUFFERING

Executive Also Praises Clara Barton, Founder of First Chapter

Washington—(P)—President Hoover turned aside from government business today to pay tribute to the Red Cross as part of the celebration of the foundation of its first chapter at Dansville, N. Y., 50 years ago, by Clara Barton.

Speaking over a nation-wide radio hook-up from the cabinet room of the White House executive offices, Mr. Hoover said the organization "proves the ability of a democracy to create from the people themselves the agencies for their service."

The Dansville chapter, known as the Clara Barton chapter No. 1, was organized by Miss Barton herself in 1881. Of that the president said:

"The 50 years which have passed since that pioneer beginning have written a chapter in the world-wide relief of human suffering which is a fitting memorial to Miss Barton and a proud tradition to her countrymen."

The text of the president's remarks follows:

"The law provides that the chief executive of the nation shall also be the president of the American National Red Cross. This fact adds to the sense of personal pleasure in the privilege which I have today of greeting by the radio those who have assembled at Dansville, N. Y., to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Clara Barton chapter, No. 1, the first Red Cross chapter in America. This chapter has a distinction of being organized by Clara Barton herself in 1881. It is a great distinction which your chapter enjoys both for the association with Miss Barton and as the beginning of one of the most beneficent institutions of our history."

Work for humanity. The beginnings of human enterprises derive their significance from the service which time proves their ability to perform for humanity. The nation joins in your celebration because of the success of the great, humanitarian agency which sprang from the mind of Clara Barton and the spirit of your community."

The establishment of the pioneer chapter in the village of Dansville was the forerunner of 3,500 chapters now in existence throughout the United States, enrolling at times of national need as many as twenty million members. In its lifetime the Red Cross has raised and expended nearly a billion of money in the relief of human distress. The national organization has become a national assurance of adequate, prompt, and efficient handling of any catastrophe within our borders. It is the flowering of the spiritual impulse to serve the common need. It represents both the common impulse of sympathetic help and the mechanism for its practical expression. It stands as a monument to individual and local initiative. It proves the ability of a democracy to create from the people themselves the agencies for their service."

Parise for Womanhood. "More than a century has passed since Clara Barton was born. And it may be well said that the institution was not only founded by a noble woman but it has been carried on very largely by the womanhood of the country. The 50 years which have passed since that pioneer beginning have written a chapter in the world-wide relief of human suffering which is a fitting memorial to Miss Barton and a proud tradition to her countrymen."

"Women's interest in the prevention of suffering and in ministrations of mercy to those in sickness, peril, or distress, is the foundation of the Red Cross organization which has been fittingly described as 'the greatest mother of them all.' To Miss Barton, Miss Mabel Boardman and the many thousands of other devoted women, in all localities of this broad land, the cause of prompt, effective and sympathetic alleviation of suffering and distress owes its debt of gratitude and its maintenance. To the men who give their service of whom there is no greater example than Judge Payne I also pay tribute."

"It is my privilege, on behalf of the nation, to acknowledge the debt, both to the pioneer founders of the organization and to their successors who are carrying on today."

COMMITTEE DECIDES TO RENT WORKHOUSE

The county board building and grounds committee yesterday decided to rent the county workhouse to the county for $12.50 per month. The committee had several offers as well as two proposals to purchase the property for $2,500.

The county board, however, has instructed the committee not to sell the property for less than $5,000. The committee had been considering keeping the workhouse as a place for caring for county poor charges during the winter months, but it decided against this plan when it was brought out that the building would have to be repaired at a considerable cost before it could be used for this purpose.

The committee also allowed bills totalling $2,200. One of these bills was for $1,875 from the city of Appleton for widening Seventh-st on the north side of the courthouse.

MURDERED YOUTH WAS VISITOR HERE

Young Man Slain Near Denver, Colo., Sunday, Left Appleton Sept. 2

Stanley M. Moore, 21, a student at the Michigan College of Mines, who was murdered Sunday near Holyoke, Colo., visited Carl B. Babcock, 124 W. Atlantic-st here last week. Moore was killed by John Markham, 21-year-old self-styled Illinois gangster. Markham confessed at Denver, Colo., Monday that he murdered Moore on a lonely road near Holyoke. He had picked up Moore as a hitch-hiker. Markham told officials that Moore became suspicious of the automobile in which they were riding had been stolen. The murderer told police that he was afraid Moore was "going to turn me in."

Moore came to Appleton to visit Babcock on Aug. 29 and remained here until Wednesday, Sept. 2. Babcock and Moore then drove to Portage. Moore left Portage on Friday morning, Sept. 4, for Denver, where he planned to visit relatives.

CONTINUE COLLECTION OF RUBBISH IN CITY

Unable to finish in one day, as was anticipated, street department workers continued the collection of rubbish Wednesday. Collections were made on north and south streets Tuesday, and on east and west streets Wednesday. The trucks dumped their loads on private property where fill was requested.

From now on through the winter rubbish collections will be made the first Monday of every month if there is sufficient rubbish to warrant sending out the trucks.

Building Permits

Two building permits were issued Tuesday by John N. Welland, building inspector. They were granted to John East, 608 W. Eighth-st, residence and one car garage, cost $4,000; and A. F. Ullrich, 303 S. Locust-st, two car garage, cost $50.

S. LAWE-ST HILL IS REOPENED TO TRAFFIC

The S. Lawe-st hill was opened to traffic today, and by tomorrow, it weather permits, the resurfacing of S. Oneidest will be finished. The completion of these two jobs eliminates all barricades in the city.

Although the Lawe-st hill, which was graded this morning, is now open to traffic, it will have to be barricaded if it rains because the hill would become exceedingly slippery if wet. It is hoped that a cinder surface can be placed on the hill before it rains, but this could not be done this morning as all city trucks were busy hauling rubbish.

WITNESS TESTIFIES ABOUT FINANCES OF FOSHAY CONCERNS

Cash Accounts Overdrawn Before $500,000 Loan Was Negotiated

Minneapolis—(P)—Testimony by witnesses for the government continued today in the trial of Wilbur B. Foshay and six of his associates on charges of using the mails to defraud.

The government through the testimony is attempting to prove literature was distributed through the mails urging purchase of stocks of Foshay's concerns despite alleged distressed condition of the Foshay company. E. J. Bouchard, former assistant treasurer, testified Tuesday that bank balances of the W. B. Foshay company were $164,577 "in the red" Aug. 22, 1929, the day before a $500,000 loan from E. C. Warner. He said according to the company's books the cash accounts actually were overdrawn for a number of days before the loan was negotiated.

The loan contract between Warner and the Foshay company was declared "unlawful and illegal" by Federal Judge John B. Sanborn last February and an appeal now is pending before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Bouchard also said that unpaid obligations of the Foshay enterprises totaled $3,000,000 on Sept. 14, 1929, two months before they went into receivership.

Asked about methods of compiling budget reports in which estimated revenues and expenditures were listed, Bouchard explained they were made up for periods of 60 days in advance.

Selecting from a stack of 68 such reports offered in evidence for the government, the one for July 15, 1929, Fred Horwitz counsel for the government, asked that it be explained. On that day estimated receipts were $20,000 and expenditures estimated at $482,916.12.

It was explained by Bouchard that the $20,000 was a "rough estimate" of the expected revenue from securities sales for the day, based on past experience. On that day, he said, he managed to extend enough of the obligations which were bills and notes falling due, either in full or in part to bring the total within the amount of cash available.

He added that if the actual obligations had been set off against the re-

Women's Letters May Aid In Tracing Harry Powers

Clarksburg, W. Va.—(P)—Letters coming in from women all over the country are being traced by Clarksburg police in the hope they will throw new light on the identity of Harry F. Powers, 42-year-old matrimonial agent, who has confessed slaying two women and three children.

More than a score of letters were received yesterday by Chief of Police Clarence Duckworth.

One letter, signed "a young widow," from Erie, Pa., told of a call made on her by a man who gave his name as George Payne. He told her, she wrote, that Cornelius O. Piers-son, Lock Box 277, Clarksburg, W. Va., could get her a "good job." He also advised her to write to Box 100, Detroit.

Later, she wrote, she received two letters from Pierson in which he inquired about her funds and her family. She ceased corresponding, Powers used the alias, Cornelius O. Pierson.

A Buffalo, N. Y., woman who did not sign her letter, said she had corresponded with Powers in 1925. He gave his address as Crestline, Ohio, and Mansfield, Ohio, the writer said. She received his picture and two letters.

Mrs. Jessie Shirren, Jackson, Miss., wrote that she was sure Powers operated in that state a few years ago. She suggested inquiry should be made in East Chicago, Ind.

Powers recently confessed slaying Mrs. Asta Buck Eicher and her three children and Mrs. Dorothy P. Lemke. Their bodies were found in a ditch six miles from here.

RECKLESS DRIVER IS FINED $10 AND COSTS

Great Opportunity Awaits Church Now, Wriston Tells Methodists

SEIZE IDEAL AND PUSH IT, HE POINTS OUT

Present Picture of Pessimism Not Overdrawn, Ministers Warned

That the present pessimism of the world gives the church its priceless opportunity to seize some great ideal, some great principle and follow it with passionate devotion, was the message of Dr. Henry M. Wriston to ministers of the Wisconsin Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, in annual session here this week, at the opening meeting of the group at the Methodist church Tuesday evening.

The speaker drew a picture of the present pessimism — about business, disarmament, politics, crime and the church, and warned the group that the picture is not in the least overdrawn.

"Business, politics, international affairs are all dominated by this pessimism, and the church has fallen into the same mood," he said. "The situation is very bad. This is partly a reflection of bad business conditions, but nevertheless the decline in financial prosperity started while business was booming. Appropriations have been cut and cut, membership is declining and some of the churches most cherished projects, including prohibition, are on the defensive."

"Materialism fails"

"It is hard to get men to think about values when they can buy distractions. It is hard to get attention to spiritual rewards when material rewards look so large. The

Bishop Is 73 Today

Charles Edward Locke, presiding at the Wisconsin conference of the Methodist church, in session here this week, celebrated his seventy-third birthday anniversary today. This is the last time the bishop, who has completed 31 years in the service of the church, 11 of which he served as bishop, will preside at this conference, for next May when the general conference meets in Atlantic City he will retire.

fact is, it is materialism that has failed. War was an attempt to settle moral issues by force—a contradiction in terms—and the logic of the contradiction is now becoming clear in something approaching world bankruptcy."

Declaring that the triumphant forces are intellectual and spiritual, Dr. Wriston used the lives of Einstein and Mahatma Gandhi as examples of this truth.

"Gandhi, a simple man of meager tastes, with slender income, is acclaimed in the world of science all over the world. He reshapes the conception of the world and its destiny—not for profit, not for glory, but for truth!"

"Gandhi, a life so ascetic it seems he cannot survive, has transcended materialism and shown the triumph of spiritual forces. His standard of living, judged by Henry Ford's standard, was hopelessly low, but his life was a testimony to a meaning denied to the person who oscillates between the radio and the movie. He is as free in jail as at home. He is as wealthy when stripped of everything as when gifts are showered upon him. By his sincerity, his devotion, by soul force, he triumphs over materialism."

"Their way is the way of Jesus. Truth," says Einstein, and forsakes all else and clings to that quest. 'Justice,' cries Gandhi, and with passionate singleness of purpose he pursues justice."

Organized On Gospel

"The church is organized on the gospel. The gospel is good news, and the world cries aloud for good news. Whoever pursues a political objective within the church, whoever thinks of self-advancement within the church, whoever subordinates a cause to convenience, a principle to expediency, is an enemy."

Speaking of education, the speaker advised that the fundamental object in education should be the organization of growing life about meaningful experience.

"Measure education not by degrees, measure its values not by incomes, but test it by whether the texture of life itself is finer and richer, whether the heart has any purpose, whether there is an aroused public conscience," he admonished.

"This can be done only by the application of every scientific method, by the expenditure of millions of money, by the devotion of great teachers, but all those things will follow upon the prophetic emphasis upon great ideal, to which men may pledge their lives for its achievement."

"That is why I have faith in the small college. It is not organized about technical schools, not organized about gainful occupations, but for the cultivation of the good life, upon the principles of Jesus. If we will follow that ideal, and not prostitute our institutions to base purposes, the world will come to sunnier days and brighter skies."

Mist Face Issues

In closing, the president of Lawrence college challenged the conference to face the issues that are now before them, to revive faith, courage and singleness of purpose.

The response to Dr. Wriston's speech, which was the welcoming address of the conference, was given by the Rev. W. F. Hovis of Milwaukee.

Following the session, two one act plays, "Trifles" and "The Flattering Word," were given by the Wesleyan Players guild, under the direction of Mrs. John Engel, Jr. Members of the "Trifles" were the Misses L. O. Kiehn and Betty Meyer, and Arthur Smith, Russell Wichmann and Mrs. H. H. Hovis.

BADGER P. T. A. TO AGAIN PAY COST OF SCHOOL TELEPHONE

The Parent Teacher association of the Badger rural school, at a meeting last Friday evening at the school house, town of Grand Chute, voted to again pay the cost of maintaining a telephone in the school house this year. The association installed the telephone last year as an experiment, and members were so pleased with the improvement that they decided to keep the telephone this year. This rural school is one of the few in the county which can boast the convenience of a telephone. A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, gave a talk at the meeting Friday night in which he discussed the recent educational pilgrimage to Europe.

"The Flattering Word" included the Misses Dorothy Davis, Dorothy Briggs and Esther Miller, and Robert Bonini and Earl Miller. A reception for ministers and wives, with the Fullinwider string quartet, finished the music, closed the Tuesday evening session.

Arthur Johnson, Fond du Lac district; The Rev. F. E. Richardson, Janesville district; and The Rev. A. W. Triggs, Milwaukee district.

Spray, Janesville, presented a detailed report of the various districts, including the work of each district and the progress among the various church institutions. Mielenz, Lake Beulah; Edward Langdon, Fort Atkinson; F. W. Wright, Manitowish; I. H. Bean, East Troy.

The Church and the Social Order was the subject of the address by Dr. John A. Lapp of Marquette university at the Thursday banquet at Hotel Northern Tuesday evening.

Urges Cooperation

Saying that a reconstruction of the present social order is necessary if it is to survive, he stated that all religious denominations, Protestants, Catholics and Jews, should cooperate on those things on which they agree.

"The world is in a very bad state, and the problems which it faces are of such magnitude that it should not be allowed to survive. It is time for some bold thinking. Employers cannot create jobs, so it is up to the national government to show the way."

Advocates Insurance

He advocated unemployment insurance, and commended the existing aids, such as workmen's compensation, mothers' pensions, etc.

Of prohibition he said that prohibition cannot be blamed for the crime situation of today, as there were gangsters before the Eighteenth amendment was passed.

The conference claimants' commission and the board of home missions met Tuesday afternoon for business sessions.

Need of a unified church without the barriers of denominations in a formation of a Christian brotherhood throughout the world was discussed by the Rev. T. W. North, Omro, at the Memorial service this noon at Riverside cemetery.

The service honored the deceased members of the Wisconsin conference buried in the cemetery and the five ministers who died during the last year. The men's quartet carried the thread of the simple old door service in song as more than 100 ministers and their wives gathered beneath the trees in commemoration of their fellow members.

The superiority complex we have within the different denominations of churches is the major force that is breaking down religion," Rev. North declared. "We need a unified work, not a denominational work, and the time has come to unify forces in a united Christian brotherhood with no other creed than the teachings of Christ."

Rev. North stressed the practical application of Christianity in everyday things and declared that the important question facing the world is whether the world will become pagan by Christ. He asked, referring to religious denominations whether churches would fit themselves to the new age, in meeting the material growth of the world or whether church would encumber their vision with materialism.

operate from a breakdown caused by over-exertion.

She already had seen notable service in the Civil war and Franco-Prussian war. Later she was in charge of relief in Cuba during the war with Spain and for a quarter of a century there was no disaster from flood, fire, famine or pestilence in the world that did not find her laboring for the cause of humanity.

Despite her poor health, she gave unstintingly of her time and thought to formation of a local chapter, and at a meeting Aug. 22, 1881, 57 members were enrolled in the first chapter. Only seventeen of the charter members are now living.

Oct. 3, 1881, Rochester organized the second chapter, to be followed by Syracuse. All three joined within a month to send relief to sufferers from forest fires in Michigan—the first disaster relief to be undertaken in this country under the banner of the Red Cross.

Miss Barton served as president of the American Red Cross for 23 years, retiring eight years before her death in 1912, at Glen Echo, Maryland, at the age of 81.

term of federal court at Milwaukee. Several others did not waive their hearings. In these instances the dates for hearings were set by Commissioner Watermolen for Sept. 18 and 17.

Nine of those arrested were charged with illegal possession and sale of intoxicating liquors and maintaining a nuisance. Winz and Pontow, the other two, were charged with transporting illicit liquor.

Set Hearing Dates

Gerlach's preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 17. Kaufman's hearing was set for the same date and hearings for Peterson, Smith, Schulz, Winz and Pontow were set for Sept. 17. Mrs. McKee, Pekel, Kleibel and Umland waived hearings and were bound over to the federal court at Milwaukee.

In each case the agents destroyed most of the confiscated liquor, saving only enough to be used as evidence. In several instances the barrels were rolled into the alleys behind the places and emptied there. The 30 barrels of beer seized with the truck were taken to the banks of the Fox river, near the Lave-st bridge early last evening, and the contents were dumped into the water. The barrels then were smashed and the truck is being held.

YOUTH ON HIS WAY HERE TO FACE CHARGES

Seaborn T. Whatley, Jr., Voluntarily Coming to Appleton

Seaborn T. Whatley, Jr., 18, 228 Lake Shore-dr., Chicago, for whom a warrant has been issued charging fourth degree manslaughter, was voluntarily on his way to Appleton today to face charges. The youth, for whom the warrant was issued yesterday by the municipal court, was being accompanied by his father, Seaborn T. Whatley, Sr.

That he was coming to Appleton voluntarily was indicated in a telegram received last night by District Attorney Stanley A. Staidt from the boy's father. The telegram said: "Have just learned my son is desired in Appleton and I will report to you with him by 3 p. m. Wednesday."

Mr. Staidt indicated the warrant for the youth was being held here pending his arrival. The warrant was issued yesterday following a conference between the district attorney, Judge Berg, and Sheriff John Lappen. At that time it was decided to make a test case of this one. The district attorney also announced he would ask the court to appoint a special prosecutor to assist in this case.

The charge against Whatley is based on an accident which occurred Sept. 10 at the intersection of Highway 10 and 26 at Leppia's Corners. Four people were killed and three others were injured when the car Whatley was driving did not stop for the arterial and crashed into another machine.

ICEMAN IS CRUSHED BETWEEN TRUCK, CAR

He was cut and bruised about the head, arms and body, and has possible internal injuries. He was taken to his home for medical attention. It is believed the ice truck had been left in gear, and that when the machine was started, it backed into Burr who was standing in the rear of the truck, pinning him against the railroad car.

CHINESE RELIEF PLAN IS GIVEN APPROVAL

Shanghai—(AP)—The National Flood Relief commission today approved Finance Minister T. Y. Soong's $70,000,000 (Mexican) relief program for China's flood stricken provinces. At current exchange rates that sum is equivalent to about $21,000,000 in American money.

This sum includes $37,500,000 (Mexican), about $12,250,000 American, for the 15,000,000 bushels of wheat purchased from the United States and $12,000,000 (Mexican), or $3,600,000 American, as the estimated cost of transporting the United States wheat to the flood stricken area.

Soong, chairman of the commission, told his colleagues China's relief problem "staggeres the imagination and goes beyond ordinary conceptions."

"The experience of the United States," Soong said, "in spending hundreds of millions of dollars on the Mississippi river shows that the richest country in the world has been unable to control the course of the stream, whose flood waters are far smaller than those of the Yangtze."

DAMAGE SUIT GOES TO JURY AT NOON

The suit for damages of $5,000, brought by Mrs. George Mavis, Appleton, against her husband, George Mavis, and the Aug. Brandt Co., went to the jury shortly after noon today. The case opened in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg yesterday. Testimony was completed this morning and arguments followed.

Mrs. Mavis asked damages for injuries which she alleges she received while she was riding as a guest of her husband. The car left the road and tipped over in a field. The accident occurred on Highway 76 in the town of Greenville in December, 1930. ## HACKETT NAMES SUSPECT AS ONE OF KIDNAP GANG

Man Arrested at Decatur Identified by Gambler Who Paid $75,000

Decatur, Ill.—(AP)—Lieut. William Cusack of the Chicago police said today that James Hackett, Blue Island, Ill., gambler, had positively identified Monte Moore, under arrest here, as one of the men who kidnaped him for $75,000 ransom last May.

Cusack brought Hackett here today for a showup of Moore and two other men arrested with him Sunday night as providers at the South Side Country club. He reported to State's Attorney John W. Evans here that he expected to leave Decatur at 11:50 a. m. on the Wabash railroad with five prisoners, including Moore, Morris Litterell and John Essinger of Springfield, arrested with him; Joseph Yates, picked up early today as a friend of Moore and William Wallace.

Wallace was arrested this morning. He, Moore and Yates, were arrested in St. Louis last July with $23,000 in securities of the Sheridan Trust and Savings bank, Chicago. They were taken to Chicago and the case later dismissed.

Moore is an ex-convict who was released from Joliet prison April 24 where he served a ten year sentence for robbery. Yates is a former member of the notorious Shelton gang which operated a number of years in southern Illinois.

Yates is known to the local police as the operator of a gambling establishment near here. He has never been convicted of a crime here, however.

Hackett was kidnaped from the Navajo Fields Country club last May. A wealthy roadside operator, after being held a short time, he was released when his wife was reported to have paid $75,000 for him.

The local police refused to talk about the case, referring all queries to the Chicago officers.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, charged today the men who kidnaped James Hackett, Blue Island slot machine king, were arrested by police last May and bought their freedom with a $50,000 bribe before they were charged with the crime.

Hackett, a former gambler, was a wealthy roadside operator and dictator of slot machine operations in southern Cook-co at the time a gang seized him on the grounds of the Navajo Fields Country club near Blue Island last May 1. He was released two days later and said his wife raised $150,000 ransom for him. Police estimated the sum at $75,000.

Police refused to reveal the source of his information regarding the bribe and said he did not know whether the policemen involved were local, state or county officers. He made the charge while awaiting the return of Police Lieut. William Cusack from Decatur

CHILDREN NEED
PLENTY OF FOOD
FOR NORMAL LIFE

Robust Youngsters Must Eat
More to Care for Muscular Activity

Madison — Children eat more because they play more. A man working in a forest may require twice as much nourishment as a banker.
A child that is playing vigorously all day needs as much food as an adult.

In a statement entitled "Fill Up the School Dinner Pail," the Educational Committee of the State Medical Society declares that at times the appetites of children seem insatiable, and that many times a twelve year old boy eats twice as much as his father, who is double his weight. The growing child according to the bulletin, should be given plenty of food.

"Every muscular motion results in the giving off of heat," declares the bulletin issued today; "consequently after severe exercise one is hot and perspires, and the face is flushed.
The Canadian lumberjack, tramping through the snow in the cold, piercing winds, chopping and sawing large trees, gives off six or more times the amount of heat given off by the equally heavy but sedentary banker in his well-warmed office, to which he journeys in his limousine.

"As children are normally active,
they give off a great deal of heat,
and as the heat must be produced either from food or from body substances, they must, in order not to lose weight, eat a great deal. Full activity, high spirits, active vital processes are a child's best inheritance. The play instinct is natural in the child. Food economy has no place in his life. A rosy, chubby, active baby and a well built, sturdy boy are normal. The emaciated, listless child is no normal. The latter needs and burns up less food than the former. Many children have only one good meal a day; they cannot be an active and romping set; the meager food they get just suffices to sustain them in listlessness and depression, in no sense a normal life place the work and thus some of the food needed by the lumberman, and the banker my frequently well afford to live on less food, no substitute can be offered to meet the needs of the active, growing, healthy child.

Exercise is needed for proper development of frame and muscles, heat and lungs. This exercise calls for heat, and heat comes from fuel, which is food, and thus we have in part an explanation of the tremendous appetite of the child.

"In addition to the food needs for the intense juvenile activity, there

PLANT PERENNIALS
NOW FOR SPRING

Late Fall and Early Winter
Is Best Time to Set Out
New Year's Crop

Ames, Ia.—To the inexperienced flower gardener, late fall and the early part of winter is an odd time to plant flowers. But to the experienced hand, now is the time for all good gardeners to plant next year's perennials.

Such flowers as iris, peonies and madonna lilies should be put in the ground now, according to E. C. Volz, horticulturist at Iowa State College here.

The iris, he advises, can be put in the ground any time now, and the madonna lilies can be planted in August or the early part of September.
Peonies can be planted in September.

With late spring planting, some of the plants will take partial root during the cool days of the fall, survive a rigorous winter, and come up in the spring ready to burst forth in bloom in the summer. With some perennials sown in early spring, the plant does not blossom until the following year.

In addition to fall planting, it is well to do some fall dividing among certain desirable flowers. Thin out the plants in order to strengthen the most desirable and help next year's garden.

from which, by the processes of assessment, material may be absorbed, and then in the elaborate body machine again reconstructed into body

"Two demands for food, muscular activity and growth are more or less obvious, but recent studies of children have shown a third, less easily observed, special demand for larger food intake, that is, the specific high internal vital activities of the quiet, resting child. Even in quiet sleep there is internal muscular activity, such as that of respiration and heart action, so that heat is being produced and given off incessantly, though, of course, in much less degree than during exercise."

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU
"VIRGO"

If September 10th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:45 to 9:15 p. m., from noon to 2:33 p. m., and from 7:15 p. m., to 9:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 10 a. m. to 11:50 a. m., and from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m.

September 10th, according to astrological conditions, will be marked by romance, and those who plight their troth or marry on this day will be assured a great measure of happiness. In business, the influences will not be favorable, and no new enterprise will be productive of remunerative results.

A child-born on this September 10th will be self-reliant and uncontrolled. It will be apt to make sensations carelessly and break them when they interfere with its convenience. It will be affectionate, clean-minded, energetic and kindly.
Once it wins a friend or a sweetheart, it will be "for keeps."

You, if born on September 10th, are an all-round character. Not primarily a business man or woman, you have good common sense, and if the Fates should compel you to look to trade or commerce for a living, you will make good at it and prove yourself capable of earning good money. Where you will shine, however, will be along artistic lines—music, painting, literary work—as you love beauty above all things. If circumstances prevent you, as they well might, from devoting your whole time to that which you like best, then what you would prefer as your life work could well be developed as a hobby.

You are a great reader, interested above all things, in historical tomes, and you often visualize yourself as one of the leaders about whom stories are woven. Your memory is excellent, you are a better listener than talker. For this reason, you are sometimes given credit for more intelligence than you really deserve.

It is easier to look, than to be, wise.

Your disposition is amiable. You are, as a friend, discriminating, and only become intimate with those who are cultured and fundamentally intelligent. Your home, no matter how humble it may be, will always reflect your artistic taste, and leave little to be desired.

ARRESTING THE COMMIS-SIONER

Including Calvin F. Schwenker, former state banking commissioner, in the warrants sworn out at Milwaukee because of the closed Franklin State bank, bears the tang of public inflammation of mind affecting even the prosecuting officers.
The charge against Mr. Schwenker is that he did not sooner close the bank although news items make it appear that when the question of the bank's stability arose Mr. Schwenker required the bank's president to post a bond of $30,000 to repair losses appearing at it.
The rule in Wisconsin, which is authorized by our legislative enactments, states that when the commissioner of banking shall be satisfied "that the capital of any bank is impaired" he is authorized and empowered "to require such bank to make good such impairment within sixty days." He is likewise authorized to take over the bank.

Obviously the problem presented to the commissioner had to do not merely with the bank and its stockholders but the stability of the community and its safety, by repairing the damage done, or at least attempting to repair it before taking the final step of closing the doors.

That decision involved a wide, a vast discretion in which there can be no charge of recreancy to trust upon the part of the banking commissioner short of proof justifying a conclusion of wanton misconduct.

In the five years that Mr. Schwenker has headed the banking department of the state great progress has been made and against considerable odds at times in notions that were old fogey if not archaic.

Mr. Schwenker has indicated time and time again a resolute attitude in making banks—although his action has been against a relatively few because most are run upon a high plane—conform to safe, sound and cautious business principles.

Perhaps the governor will find as good a man to take his place. He will have a difficult time in finding a better one.

ON LOSING OUR HEADS

The average Britisher keeps his head in times of emergency. Likewise the American is no fool much as some people would like to believe that statement.

There is one thing about the present depression that is generally overlooked. It is that the American people have displayed a great deal more common-sense and level-headedness than many give them credit for.

Jay Franklin, writing for Liberty magazine, refreshes our hope of salvation in answering the criticism of a lot of highbrow writers and self-styled economists who have taken delight in portraying the average American as a colossal ignoramus, incapable of managing his own affairs.

Says he: "You would expect a bunch of morons like the Americans to turn in a riot call, barbecue their politicians and take the bankers for a ride. But they didn't. In the worst panic of our national history we've had no Cockey's army, no big riots, no big strikes and no martial law.

"The American people has kept its temper and kept its head, and made monkeys out of the panicky 100 per cent patriots who have acted as though high wages were all that stood between the country and bloody revolution. Americans may be foolish, but they don't act like fools in an emergency."

Sounds good to hear a little common-sense talk and be reminded that we are not yet fated for the bottomless pit. Amid all the direful prognostications of the "gloomy Guses" and "dejected Blues" there roams a national spirit ever mindful of its heritage and with an abiding faith in its ability to "lick its weight in wildcats." Along with it is an equanimity and common-sense that will keep many various "isms" locked in the barn if they become too

THE CONSTANT REVOLT

Retiring after 30 years of service as dean of men at the University of Illinois, Thomas Arkle Clark casts a thoughtful glance back over the years and concludes that young people, taken by and large, are just about what they always were.

"Young people haven't changed fundamentally in 30 years," he says. "They are all going to the same places, only their ways lie over hard roads, in automobiles, or in airplanes, and to the accompaniment of radios.

"The economic and social conditions are different, but not the psychology of youth. There are just as many serious-minded students and just as many frivolous ones as 30 years ago."

All of this sounds logical enough, but it is vaguely disappointing. A man who has kept a watchful eye on university students for over a quarter of a century ought to have something to say about the revolt of youth, or the way in which the younger generation is going to perdition. We expect it of him. It's an old American custom.

Still, the gentleman probably knows what he is talking about; and his summing-up makes one wonder if this whole "youth problem" isn't one of those perennial problems that never gets solved, never gets worse and never leads to anything in particular.

It is the function of youth to be in revolt, to be disrespectful of its elders, to do things that the generation just ahead thinks scandalous. Every "younger generation" since the days of the Pharaohs, probably, has been that way. This, indeed, is the one unchanging thing in a changing world.

Indeed, we older ones who get shocked by the doings of the youngsters—weren't we ourselves, a few years ago, shocking our own elders? And weren't they, in turn, doing the same thing a few decades before? All of these revolts that we and our fathers and our grandfathers led—where are they now? Living on in the youth of today, perhaps—otherwise, non-existent.

The fact is both comforting and saddening. Youth isn't going to upset the applecart. It will grow up, presently, get disillusioned, and raise its own hands over the antics of its children. It always has, and it always will. Sometimes one almost wishes that it wouldn't.

ANOTHER FORD IDEA

Henry Ford has been responsible for many industrial innovations. His minimum five-dollar-a-day wage startled an unsuspecting world, but brought higher standards of living and increased happiness for wage earners.

Insistence upon thrift and sobriety among his workmen and the adoption of the five-day week in 1926 are other examples of his prolific ideas, to say nothing of the development of manufacturing methods which made his plant the drum major of the mass production band.

With such affluence in ideas, however, some were bound to miss the target. Witness the Peace Ship and how the boys spent Christmas in the trenches; the early contemptuous attitude towards a college education; and the more recent diagnosis of the national ills as due to man's dislike of work in a world brimful of jobs.

His latest pronouncement that every family man employed at his Iron Mountain plant must have a garden to raise at least part of his winter vegetable supply, or lose his job, is another horse of uncertain hue.

If the land is available for this purpose, the plan will appeal to many employees accustomed to gardening. To others it may not be so pleasant or so profitable to have Mr. Ford prescribe rules of conduct or occupation while off the job. It is a feudal idea with Mr. Ford as duke of his domain.

By its promulgation he assumes a lack of intelligence in his employees to direct their leisure hours in any profitable occupation other than wielding the shovel and hoe.

Pleased with his idea, Mr. Ford believes other industrialists will adopt similar methods. Carried to its logical conclusion, there will be one hundred thousand gardens surrounding Dearborn and the River Rouge. It may be necessary to parcel out his large and now useless estate into patches for the raising of garden truck in a community already abundantly supplied.

As for the local farmer and truck raiser, the problem of profitable living will become more acute.

The compulsory feature of Mr. Ford's plan is likely to cause unpleasant reaction. As a general policy it is outside his realm and certainly is no solution of the unemployment problem.

An oyster was caught near Baltimore recently with a nice upper set of false teeth in his possession. It isn't reported whether the teeth fitted nicely and whether the oyster had any trouble talking with them.

Now it is reported that Germany will be around after a lot of United States wheat. How jolly. If a few more countries start buying the wheat surplus our farmers will be able to start overproducing again.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Sept. 12, 1906

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Molitor, Little Chute, to Joseph Schumacher, Appleton, took place the previous morning at St. John church, Little Chute.

Dr. L. H. Moore, Appleton, was elected president of the Fox River Dental society at the fifth semi-annual meeting the previous afternoon at Green Bay.

Ernest T. Ingold left that morning for Springfield, Ill., where he was to enter the Illinois state university and take a course in mechanical drawing and engineering.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kober were to spend the remainder of the week with their daughter and Mrs. Kober's sister in Port Washington.

W. H. Hackelman had been appointed as branch money order agent of the United States Express company office in Appleton.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Peerenboom and daughter, left that morning for Milwaukee to attend the state fair.

Miss Emma Trettin left that afternoon for New London to attend the wedding of Miss Jane Kimball to Charles Le Roy Reyher, Garrett, Ind., which was to take place that evening.

TEN YEARS AGO

Wednesday, September 7, 1921

Unemployment was declining and public and private projects then getting underway were to bring further relief, according to information obtained by the United Press that day from cities in all sections of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Ward and daughters, Hazel and Phyllis, and Miss Verdine Wolfgram returned the previous Sunday from Milwaukee where they visited friends and attended the state fair.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carter and children had returned from a visit with Clintonville friends.

The marriage of Mrs. Margaret Ehlensberger, formerly of Appleton, to Albert Naubauber, Antioch, took place at Waupaca that day.

Applications for marriage licenses had been made by Gerhard Rehfeldt and Hilda Kirsch, Appleton; Perle J. Miller and Anna Young, Appleton.

Miss Mildred Thoms had gone to Beloit where she was to teach during the coming year.

Miss Erna Bruss was home from Antigo where she was the guest of friends for a week.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

EVERY DOCTOR SHOULD WRITE AND LECTURE

A physician who has a rather large number of diabetes patients gives two lectures a week to his patients. He invites all his patients to attend these lectures free of charge. He does not invite others than his own patients to attend, nor does he announce the lectures to the public in any way or even permit any announcement or "news" about them to be published. The patients find the lectures very practical and helpful. The doctor simply tells them the things every good physician must and should tell his diabetes patients. By doing it in this way the doctor is able to teach his patients much more effectively than he can when he tries to give the lessons individually. The lectures include much good advice about preparing food, taking insulin, how to manage insulin reactions, and the various special matters of hygiene which are of so much importance in the diabetic patient's way of living.

Every doctor, I suspect, would like to write medical or health stuff for the public. Every doctor should, or at least he should for his own patrons. There can be no possible objection to this on the score of ethics or professional propriety. On the contrary, the "code" or principles of medical ethics specifically states that it is the duty of the physician to instruct the public about matters of health.

Even my own rather unconventional professional conduct in this column makes the average medical brethren whose fobies I attack mad right down to the ground, never brings upon my head any official censure and never for an instant impairs my standing in the medical profession or my fellowship in the medical society. You see, my motive is absolutely unquestionable, and so even the medical brethren whose toes I tread on know better than to attempt to have me officially reproved or censured in any way.

If I can get away with this sort of thing and still keep my medical standing why, any honest to goodness practitioner can write his own educational article, pamphlets, booklets, lessons and deliver his own instruction, lectures, talks to his own patrons, and it is nobody's business.

Every doctor, I believe, has ambition often not frankly acknowledged, to write for the public on medical and health subjects. Obedy that impulse. Be the head man of your own "clinic," "Institute," "health club," "school of life" or whatever you please to call it. Canvass your own clientele and group them into suitable cases. Set a time for each class to meet, and teach them what they need to know. It's nobody's business, I say, and an ideal way for a real doctor to serve his patients and at the same time elevate the status of regular medicine.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Dry Up

My 3 1/2 year old son wets the bed more than my 2 year old. Can you tell me how to stop this? (Mrs. A.)

Answer—Yes, send a stamped envelope bearing your address and mention that you son wets the bed. No advice sent impersonally or in response to a clipping.

In the Backwoods

I asked my physician about the diathermy method for my infected tonsils and he desecrated it as being experimental.

Answer—Give him 10 years or so—he'll learn. I do know of a physician in your community who employs diathermy for the extirpation of tonsils, but the better physicians and specialists everywhere are now using the method for suitable cases. It is quite as efficient as is surgical tonsillectomy in any case.

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Word comes from Sweden that Ed Hull, member of congress from Peoria, hid himself to a brewery in Stockholm the other day to test the intoxicating power of 32 per cent beer.

After stowing away four successive bottles—on an empty stomach and all I could hold," he wrote back home that he left the brewery sober and feeling no ill effects. "And I am not a drinking man," Hull added.

The Illinois representative is a member of the so-called "beer bloc" in the house. Leonidas Carstaphen Dyer, his colleague from the neighboring state of Missouri, is another. Last January Hull made a speech on the floor of the house in which he advocated the manufacture of beer not to exceed 3 per cent as a feasible plan for solution of the prohibition question. He said at the time he didn't believe it intoxicating.

His visit to the Stockholm brewery was to prove it.

This is not the first time that a member of congress has used himself as a personal agent to further his stand on the question of prohibition.

The incident of several years ago in which John Philip Hill, then a member of congress from Baltimore, experimented with fruit juices in the cellar of his home, is an example.

Hill contended that the Volstead act gave the farmer a right to manufacture cider and wine, but withheld it from the city man. He defied the prohibition commissioner by making cider at his home in Baltimore.

When the beverage was ready, he issued a blanket invitation to attend a party at his home and inspect and try a glass. Something like 1,000 persons took him at his word and came.

Later he was indicted, tried and acquitted. Incidentally, the present Prohibition Commissioner Woodcock, then U. S. district attorney, was the prosecutor.

Legal Victory

The ruling was made in this case that the clause of the Volstead act defining beverages of more than one-half of one per cent alcoholic content as illegal did not apply to home-made wines and cider, providing the product is "non-intoxicating in fact."

A little more than a year ago that fiery and peppery New Yorker in congress, Fiorella ("Little Flower") LaGuardia, issued a guide to his constituents on how to make "non-intoxicating wine and home-brew" and not run counter to the prohibition law.

LaGuardia's instructions were based on a bulletin from the department of agriculture on "unfermented grape juice; how to make it in the home."

Barbs

The farm board traded off surplus wheat to Brazil for some coffee the other day. Now the board only needs to trade somebody something for some doughnuts.

Henry Ford wants his employees to have their own gardens for vegetables. Probably he wants the boys to know their onions.

A retired cattleman has invented a reversible hat for women. It remains only for some chorus girl to think up an ocean liner that can travel on skates.

Recent governmental upsets in Great Britain indicate the country does not like to place all its eggs in one cabinet.

"Begin Fresh Drive On Crime Element," says a headline in a New York newspaper. Don't tell us that the police are becoming impudent to the gangsters!

Judging from the number of women you see going to work these days, things are getting back to the way they were before Columbus discovered America.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES

New York—Belle Baker's little son of 10 years, whose father, Maurice Abraham, died suddenly of a heart attack last April, has been at Arrowhead camp, Foulney, Vt., this summer.

One night Belle, who used to pack 'em in at the music halls, was on a late all-star broadcast.

She got the director of the camp on the telephone, to inquire if young Herbert could stay up a half hour after his appointed bedtime to hear his mother over the radio.

The director was agreeable. When he informed Herbert, he happened to mention that he thought it would be nice if all the boys were accorded the same privilege of listening in on the choice program.

"No, sir, please don't do that," Herbert appealed.

The astonished director wanted to know the reason for the child's attitude.

"Well, sir, you see," said Herbert, "if any one of the kids should say he liked anybody on the program better than my mother, I'd have to fight. And that would spoil my whole summer."

Speaka Da Russ?

Albert Coates, who came back to New York to direct concerts through August, has started a class in the Russian language for close friends, those admirers who do not bore him and some of the scribes who cover things musical.

On nights when he can spare the time, his pupils assemble in his hotel suite to grunt and sputter under his tutelage. A talking machine with Russian language records has been pressed into service, too.

Coates was born in Petrograd. His English parents just happened to be there. He has the favor of the Soviet government and within two years will bring to this country the celebrated Bolshoi theater operatic organization, which he has conducted.

He is a big, jovial fellow, with a tendency toward obesity. He is tremendously active in his professional line, but his handlers and friends concern themselves about getting him to exercise, to keep that waistline down.

Fat rollers and all sorts of reducing contrivances are strewn about his room. Now they're putting him through the paces at tennis.

The other day I had luncheon with him. He consumed a couple of honeydew melons, an oversize order of salmon in jelly, a tankard of beer and a dessert. And he was still hungry at 3 p. m., when I had to go out to Flatbush to see a politician.

KORNILOFF'S REVOLT

On Sept. 9, 1917, General Laurus G. Korniloff, commander in chief of the Russian armies, raised the flag of revolt against Russia's provisional government.

When informed of the revolt, Premier Alexander Kerensky refused to believe it. Being convinced of it by an exchange of telegrams with Korniloff, the premier, acted with resolution and celerity.

He deposed Korniloff as a traitor, arrested his envoy, Vladimir Lvoff, proclaimed a siege of Petrograd and appointed General Klembovsky as chief of the armies of Russia.

General Korniloff responded to this by moving an army against the capital.

DEMAND GROWS FOR TAX-EXEMPT ISSUES TODAY

Discussion Keen on Increasing Income Taxes in Higher Brackets

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—(CPA)—

The threat of higher income taxes next year on the earnings of individuals and corporations is already having its effect in the way of a preference shown for tax-exempt over taxable securities and the beginning of another movement similar to that in the last quarter of 1930, when owners of stocks and bonds sold them in large amounts in order to establish losses.

There was much food for thought along this line in the various expressions of labor day speakers throughout the country. A number of them voiced the opinion that the rich men of the United States would be looked to to assist this winter's unemployed. In some instances this was recommended in the form of direct gifts to the welfare work in communities and in others by means of raising the upper brackets in the income tax schedule. The statement of Senator William Borah that "there is only one thing to do and that is to feed the people from the treasury of the United States and increase the income tax, particularly in the higher brackets," was the subject of much discussion.

Would Boost Taxes

Supporting this general idea was the opinion of John Moody, who might be termed a Wall Street man, to the effect that if the United States is to lead in recovery it must consider certain sacrifices, among which are increased federal revenues from taxation and a reduction in the tariff. Mr. Moody points out that the tax burden in the United States is not comparable to that imposed on European countries since the war, and that a temporary advance in federal taxes would go a long way to reestablish conditions throughout the world as it would be associated with a reduction of war debts.

For weeks the major business of many investment houses has been in tax exempt bonds. The demand for such issues has been associated not only with the element of prime security in them at a time when investors have questioned the worth of many corporation issues, but with the exemption privilege which these bonds enjoy from income tax payments. Subscriptions to the various issues of treasury obligations and the long term government bonds have also been made to a considerable extent because of the immunity which these obligations have from normal income taxes.

It is believed that an effort will be made at the next session of congress to increase the higher brackets of the present income tax law and to materially advance the amount of inheritance taxes. The publication recently of the schedules of the Whitney estate, indicating a fortune amounting to a quarter of a billion dollars, made a most unfavorable impression at a time when there is so much unemployment and distress throughout the country.

Many Take Losses

It seemed to stock exchange houses last year that everyone who had losses on securities must be taking these losses, in view of the great amount of liquidation and exchanging that occurred between October and the closing week of December. The effect of this was conspicuous in the 25 per cent decline in income tax payments this year, with many individuals who formerly paid thousands of dollars annually in taxes showing practically no tax accrued on their 1930 schedules. However, additional losses have occurred during 1931, when Bayles, shown in the inset, averaged 236.239 miles per hour over the 100-mile closed course, lapping all but one of the other seven contestants. His home is in Springfield, Mass.

Red Cross Active In 1,000 Disasters In Fifty Years

Danville, N. Y.—(P)— Since the first chapter of the Red Cross was founded here a half century ago by Clara Barton, more than 1,000 disasters have been dealt with nationally by the organization.

Thus was the work of the relief organization described today by James L. Fieser, vice chairman, at the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the founding of Chapter No. 1, known here as the "Clara Barton Chapter."

Fieser reviewed the work of the woman pioneer in relief, government and educational affairs in her life spanning from 1821 to 1912.

"Today," he said, "we pay homage not in stone or bronze but in gratitude to one whose name for three quarters of a century has symbolized faith, hope and charity to countless millions not alone in our own land but throughout the world."

Relating that Miss Barton was one of the first women to serve the federal government, to discover the Red Cross as a world movement, establish the principle of free public schools in America, Fieser said she was a pioneer in the age of pioneers. For eight long years, he said, she advocated the first important step toward making the Red Cross idea an international agency with an international emblem. He then told of her organization of the American Red Cross, of which she was president for 23 years.

"The people of Danville, N. Y.," he said, "have a heritage beyond price in the significant part which they played in launching this newly organized Red Cross in America 50 years ago. Clara Barton was well known to you as a fellow citizen for here she found friendship, medical care and glimpses of tranquility in her search for health. Some of you knew her and rallied to her call to organize the first Red Cross chapter."

Fieser said that although the organization first was associated with war relief, Miss Barton proposed disaster relief and measures of prevention of plagues and aid to those stricken in national calamities including floods, droughts and fire. The membership of the first chapter here was 57, he said, while in a half century, more than four million adults and seven million junior members were listed in 3,600 American chapters which have 12,000 branches.

"As we look forward to this fiftieth anniversary roll call," he continued, "it may safely be expected that the referendum of the people will again show new high levels of membership as assurance by the public that it stands back of the Red Cross everywhere in its great and growing field of public service."

HIGHER IDEALS SLUMP SOLUTION

Must Learn by Our Mistakes, Levitan Tells State Auditors

Biloxi, Miss.—(P)— Economic improvement will come only with increasing intelligence and higher ideals of service, Solomon Levitan, state treasurer of Wisconsin, said in an address here today at the convention of the National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers.

"The great lack during the period of prosperity," he said, "was the lack of wisdom and economy, so as usual, when wisdom is lacking, we have to learn by our mistakes. Legislation can tide over emergencies, but only enlightenment will bring permanent benefits."

Mr. Levitan declared that public officials should remember that the purpose of government is to serve the governed.

"No one," he said, "should accept a public office who has not for his ideal service—full value given to the public for every dollar received. Common honesty, is the first demand of wisdom. It is the foundation of peace, order and prosperity. When peoples and nations reach the place where they are willing to be honest with themselves and with each other, peace will no longer be a time to prepare for war, but for a more intelligent peace."

He also added that the restoration of normal economic conditions depends upon the wise cooperation of the government, bankers, industrialists and the community. Establishment of shorter working hours with fair wages should aid in the proper balance that will maintain prosperity, he said.

AUTO DEALER RETIRES
Milwaukee—(P)—Jesse A. Smith, former president of the National Auto Dealers' association and widely known in Wisconsin as a distributor of Hudson motor car products, has announced he will retire from business Oct. 1. He has operated a garage here for 18 years and has delivered $50,000,000 worth of automobiles in the state.

EYE TROUBLE DUE TO MANY ORGANS, SAYS WAUSAU MAN

Teeth, Tonsils, Sinuses Often at Fault, He Tells Society

Madison—(P)—The teeth, tonsils, sinuses and other organs rather than the eyes may be the cause of eye trouble Dr. J. K. Trumbo, Wausau, said in a paper read before the Wisconsin Medical Society in convention here today.

Many cases of eye diseases, he said, have been proven to be the result of focal infections in various parts of the body which discharge poison to the eyes.

"Trouble with eyesight may not indicate the need for glasses or better lenses, but the need for immediate attention to the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, intestinal tract or pelvic organs," Dr. Trumbo said.

In an address before women's organizations, Joseph Colt Bloodgood, Baltimore, emphasized the necessity for period examinations to prevent cancer of the cervix in mothers. He said medical education in this field was neglected and that the medical profession had kept the information "secret."

Less than 10 per cent of women who bear children have pelvic examinations except when indicated by definite symptoms, Dr. Bloodgood said on the basis of a study made under the Amanda Simms Fund.

"The relatively poor results of radium therapy are due to late intervention, and late intervention is the result of the failure of the medical profession to give the mothers of this country correct information," he said.

Dr. Bloodgood said cancer of the cervix is identical with cancer of the skin and of the lining of the mouth. Cancer of the cervix, like cancer of the skin or mouth, is preventable, he said.

"No beautiful women die of cancer of the skin, because they pay immediate attention to the first skin

TWO CHILDREN HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

Fond du Lac—(P)—Stanley Northerschoeld, 11, and his sister, DeLores, 6, of Peebles, Wis., were in St. Agnes hospital here today as the result of an automobile collision on Highway 55 north of here yesterday. When Ernest Garden, Minneapolis, turned his car into a farm driveway the machine was struck by one driven by C. A. White, Green Bay. Both children were hurt seriously, the girl suffering amputation of her right forearm.

SELL 4TH WARD LAND TO SATISFY MORTGAGE

A parcel of land in the Fourth ward, Appleton, will be sold at public auction on Sept. 16 at the court house by Sheriff John Lappen to satisfy a mortgage foreclosure judgment. The judgment was granted by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court on July 26, 1930, and the sale was ordered July 30, 1931. The property is owned by Joe Bogart, a widower, and the mortgage is held by the J. Fountain Lumber company.

defect and keep the skin clean," he said.

As a result of continued high blood pressure, age, communicable disease or the after effects of fever, about 50 persons die each year in Wisconsin from breaking down of the functions of the arteries, Dr. Otto F. Paulsch, Reedsburg, told the convention.

"Our experience," he said, "has been that while we cannot cure, we can to some extent prevent and in many cases relieve and attain in this class of cases some success in the aim of physicians—a prolongation of human life."

Dr. John H. Karsten, Horicon, recommended that medical educational institutions give more attention to the problems encountered by the family physicians of the rural areas. He advocated an extension of the post-graduate educational advantages for physicians serving in small communities.

Bank Clerks May Make Big Hit At La Fiesta

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
Hollywood—(CPA)—It looks as though the bank clerks were going to be the biggest single hit of La Fiesta which is now rocking Los Angeles. Incidentally, when the banking business goes festive it appears as though depression were distinctly on the run.

Bursts of laughter from within the dignified marble foyers of several banks in Hollywood attract the attention of the innocent bystander. Depositing or withdrawing money has seldom been accompanied by such wholehearted merriment. Patrons invariably pause astounded on the bank threshold and depart holding their sides. They leave behind them a set of clerks red faced and grim jawed to the point of apoplexy.

The clerks are in Spanish costume. No kidding—except on the part of their customers. They wear tight fitting short pants of black or dark red or bottle green velvet. White bloused shirts, and occasionally a lovely bolero jacket. You expect them to vanquish a bull or snatch up a guitar any moment. The women clerks also wear those tricky little round spanish hats.

Bankers' Idea
It wasn't the bank clerks' idea. Quite otherwise. Several bankers are on La Fiesta committee and somebody thought how nice it would be if the clerks went Castilian like everybody else for the duration of the celebration. They've gone Castilian, all right. Many of them, despite intensive joshing, look so handsome that movie contracts hover almost visibly in the offing. Many of them look as you'd expect a combination of knee length velvet pants and horn rimmed glasses to look. Most of them look rather sheepish or down right mad and a consensus of opinion among the clerks themselves is that a majority feel like 30 cents.

But ooh la la, or its Spanish equivalent, it's all a contribution to the fact that the city of our queen of the angels is 150 years old and getting to be a big old nos. She started with 44 souls without a movie star among 'em and not the least of her contributions in a century and a half of progress is the inspiring of the first spontaneous chuckle that has echoed within the walls of anybody's bank in more than a year.

Feelings Of Child Must Be Honored

BY ANGELO PATRI
Everybody has heard about respect for elders. We are only beginning to hear about having respect for our juniors. Yet our juniors are entitled to respect. Their rights, their feelings, their tastes must be respected if we hope to have them respect us at all.

"We're driving over to see Gram, Eileen. Wait to come along!"

"I think not mother. I'd rather stay home."

"Very well. I'll be home in time for tea. Good-bye. I hope you have a pleasant time, child."

"Thanks, I hope you do, too. Give my love to Gram."

Mother and Aunt Kate walked down the path to the car. Aunt Kate settled herself behind the wheel, she always drove having rooted objections to being driven.

"I do think, Maud, that you should have made that child come along with us."

"Why? She didn't want to come. Why make her? Anyway, she is seventeen years old. You wouldn't force a girl of that age to do anything like that, would you?"

"If she was a daughter of mine, believe me, she'd come when I called her."

"You don't understand Kate. Eileen is grownup. I'd no more think of making her come along with me than I'd think of making you come."

"That's very different. Eileen is a child. She should not be left alone in the house. How do you know where she is now? How do you know what she is planning to do the minute your back is turned?"

You can't keep up the tricks of these young girls. Believe me, if she was mine she'd be different.

Mother kept still. She began to worry. Maybe she had been wrong. Perhaps she was not doing right by this child of hers. Yet Eileen had always been a good child. She had never done anything that would indicate a spirit such as Aunt Kate had pictured. Anyway she would hurry home as fast as she could.

It wasn't right to leave the child alone like that. But Gram had many things to talk about and then there was the tea and cakes that must be prepared and disposed of with due ceremony. It was much later than mother had hoped when she reached home.

Eileen met her at the door, took her coat and hat, pushed her gently into a chair and said, "Now rest up. I have dinner all ready. The plumber came."

"Oh my goodness, I forgot all about him. I forgot he was coming today. Did he fix the pipes and the faucets? Did you remember the laundry faucets?"

"I didn't forget him. That was why I didn't go with you. I knew you had forgotten him and thought I'd better stay. If I had said anything you would have stayed home and Gram would have been so disappointed. He did all the pipes and faucets. We have new washers and everything. Did you have a good time? How is Gram? I'll go over Saturday."

"Well," grumbled Aunt Kate. "Well, she is old for her age." Somehow Eileen isn't fond of Aunt Kate.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, 1009 N. Durkee-st., entertained Tuesday night at a hamburger fry at Alicia park in honor of their daughter, Bonita, who will leave next Sunday to enter Milwaukee State Teachers' college. Twelve guests were present.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

SUE WIFE relief swept over Sue as she met Dr. Barnes' eyes. They didn't doubt her. They believed her. And they flared with indignation at the injustice of it all.

He pressed Sue's hand hard and then turned to the thief.

"If you weren't trusted up I'd knock you down. I think I'll do it anyway."

"Hubert!" The cold passion of Lois Andrews' voice reached out, like a hand, and checked his words.

"Sorry, I forgot. But if that nutmeg thinks he can get away with that sort of thing."

"You wait! I'm right. A dame helped with this job!" There was such conviction in the holdup man's voice that not even Sue could doubt him.

She realized that she hadn't said a word yet. She hadn't denied the accusation at all. It hadn't seemed necessary. But the hungry faces were waiting.

"You realize that I don't know anything about it, surely," Sue said then. Her voice didn't break. Her eyes didn't waver.

Jim swung around. "Of course we are giving you the benefit of the doubt, Miss Merryman. A man or woman is always innocent until he has been proved guilty. It's a mess, of course, but it's bound to straighten out."

He was courteous but impersonal. Sue saw the play of ideas in Thomas Andrews' eyes. Read them as plainly as though they had appeared on a screen. He was recalling her mention of someone named Jack. She remembered her own words very clearly. "We can't get married until Jack gets back from..."

That was what she had said. Then she had stopped suddenly, afraid that she had told Thomas Andrews too much, and he had asked who Jack was, and not believed what she said at all.

She had given away the fact that she was new in town. That she was Dr. Barnes' receptionist. That she hadn't known him until she came to town.

All of these things assured Thomas Andrews that Dr. Barnes couldn't waver for her.

There had been something that was... she groped for a word to describe it... slick about his attentiveness. The way his thinning hair was brushed. The way his nails were too meticulously manicured. She didn't want him to come near her.

But he would support her, of course. Of that there was no doubt. All she had to do was to establish her own identity, and that wouldn't be hard.

But if she did that, then it would break Dr. Barnes' case of being engaged to her. If it didn't it would give the impression, when the story got out, that she and Jack were through. Dr. Barnes was supporting her. She couldn't let him down. Maybe it would all end without need for evidence. Of course it would! It was too preposterous and silly for any use.

Thomas Andrews' voice snapped the thread of her thoughts.

BEACH PAJAMAS ARE DENOUNCED BY VICAR

Weymouth, England.—(P)—Scripture is being used by Rev. F. E. Coryton, vicar of St. John's church, against the wearing of beach pajamas by women.

His church is on a beach much frequented by pajamaed women visitors, and the vicar denounced the apparel in a sermon, quoting from Deuteronomy:

"The women shall not wear that which pertaineth unto a man, neither shall a man put on a woman's garment: for all that do so are abomination unto the Lord thy God."

Chintz curtains hung on kitchen windows will brighten a dark and gloomy kitchen.

When blankets are to be washed for the first time they should be soaked over night in cold water and then rinsed. This is to remove the sulphur used in bleaching. After this they should be soiled until clear in a luke-warm lather made with boiled soap and water and then rinsed well in clear water.

MALICIOUS SISTER MUST BE CHECKED—LONG ABSENCE WILL HELP CLEARER DECISION

Dear Miss Vane: I often read of girls whose sisters are their best friends. My sister is nothing but a malicious and has made much trouble for me by telling lies behind my back to people who would not believe a word she said, were she not my sister. Often she has managed to have me excluded from certain parties, by lying to protect her self and to hurt me. I feel that I must stop her in some way but I don't know how to go about it.

VIOLET K. There came a time when even a sister must be put in her place, and that, very severely—and certainly you must give up any sentimental scruples about dealing with your charming female relative swiftly and effectively.

Treated of meekly submitting to this kind of treatment for the sake of family honor—cut the ground from under sister's feet, once and for all. In the first place, tell her frankly that you've caught her in several malicious lies, and that you intend to bring her face to face with those she's led to. Don't make a scene about it. ## CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

PENALTY DOUBLE AND DEFENSIVE PLAY

In the Approach Forcing System it is the accepted convention that a Double of an adverse bid is for penalties. (That is, it is made with the expectation of defeating the contract.)

When—1. Partner has previously bid—be it only a suit bid or one of the four. 2. The doubler has at least two no-trump or a three-bid in a suit.

There are safeguards placed about the procedure of doubling which when intelligently used are certain to bring profitable results. These safeguards are:

"The Two Trick" rule: A Penalty Double must be based on expectancy to defeat the contract by at least two tricks. So-called "sporting" or "free" Doubles on a margin of but 1 trick are never advisable.

"The Trump Trick" rule: Penalty Doubles of suit bids below a game contract should not be made unless at least 1 trump trick is held by the doubler. This all-important rule definitely solves the problem of doubling and is based on strict adherence in partnership bidding to the Standard Table of Honors and minimum requirements for various bids—especially Opening bids.

The hand below, in which Theodore A. Lightner, one of the world's ranking experts, played, is an illustration of the soundness of the rules above given. West's overall of South's Opening bid, considering the game, was notably a trifle optimistic, but not, by any means, as unsound as the result appeared to indicate.

Both sides vulnerable; South Dealer.

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South West North East

1 ♠ (1) Dbl. (2) All pass

1 Down 1800.

1—Not as bad a bid as the result would seem to indicate.

2—After a bid by partner a Double of a bid of one is for penalties. The value of this convention will be seen from this and similar hands.

The extent of the massacre is easily discernible. North opened the King of clubs; South upon securing the lead, returned trumps and then clubs on every occasion. As a result, West made only the club Ace and 1 trump trick. The result was a penalty of 1800 points due to a wise application of the rules above shown.

TODAY'S POINTER

Minimum Responses to a Takeout Double

With hands containing not more than 1-1/2 honor-tricks, partner's response to a Takeout Double is:

1. Choice between a major and a minor. Bid a four-card major when it is headed by at least a Knave in preference to any five-card minor, but bid a six-card minor in preference to a four-card major of but average strength.

2. A no-trump response shows strength. If holding a stopper in the suit adversely bid, the bid is one no-trump—providing the hand contains at least 1 honor-trick; when not containing 1 honor-trick, the proper response is a bid of any suit, be it even a three-card minor. A no-trump response to a Double is never made on a blank hand. There are few things more dangerous in Contract than a no-trump Takeout with a blank hand.

3. Choice between a major and a no-trump. If holding a choice between a four-card major suit and no-trump, the major suit response is, as a rule, preferred.

4. Responding with a three-card suit, with a hand such as:

Spades 10 9 6 5

Hearts 7 6 4

Diamonds 9 4 2

Clubs 10 8 3

at partner doubles one spade, the proper response is a two club bid, the lowest minor three-card suit. A pass is, of course, unthinkable.

rose water. Glycerine is an excellent bleaching agent but when used alone it will dry and burn.

If you prefer to use a fruit bleach you can whiten the skin by cutting a slice of lemon and rubbing it over the tanned skin. Use a tomato or strawberry in the same way.

A cooling cucumber mask that bleaches is made by soaking cucumber in a cup of water. Add toilet water or the juice of a lemon to this water and wring out of this a square of soft linen. Arrange the cucumber peel on the face and neck, cover with the linen cloth to hold the cucumber in place. Let this mask remain on the face for 15 minutes.

Washing the face in buttermilk once daily will whiten the skin and also improve its texture. The juice of a lemon in a cup of water makes another excellent bleaching bath.

All of these bleaches will help to fade light freckles but if you have a really abundant crop of dark brown freckles you may as well resign yourself to keeping them. Freckles are spots of pigment deep in the skin. They cannot be whitened by any external application. Time—and rigid avoidance of more exposure to the sun—is the cure.

THREATENED—

with a fate blacker than death!

Craved with blood-faming rum—those savage Kaffirs attacked! It will challenge your belief to read of the jungle horrors heaped upon this beautiful woman, who actually lived to tell her own true story in words so frank they terrify.

"If those degenerate Kaffirs had only killed me," this beautiful woman writes, "I would not today be tortured with telling you of that horrible night."

"Now that I have the safety of a home in this greatest of all lands, it haunts me like a hideous nightmare that my husband and I were once driven from our nest by the ferocious Zulus. From there, we trekked toward the promised peace of Zoutspanberg. Through endless miles of dense, foul-smelling jungle swamps, we waged our fight for life—against lethal snakes, ravenous crocodiles and beasts, and the tsetse fly's death-fever."

"But death at the hands of any natural jungle peril would have been sweet wine compared to the bitter fate awaiting me in the land of the Kaffir savages. They stalked us for days, and every mile I could see fear—fear for me—mounting in my husband's eyes—when finally—the rum-crazed Kaffirs attacked!"

"My husband cursed, fired, killed one savage after another, but still their closing circle clamped us like a vise—AND THEN—like a charging tiger, a warrior dashed at my husband and crushed at his skull with a deadly knobkerrie club..."

REPAIR WORK ON SIDEWALKS CREATES JOBS

Many Unemployed Men in Neenah to Secure Em- ployment This Fall

Neenah—Sidewalk contractors and members of the street and sidewalk committees of the city council met Tuesday evening to schedule repair work, thus providing employment for more men on the city's poor list. The committee has had a crew of men working during the past few days marking walks where cement blocks have become broken or raised. The property owner upon whose walk a check has been placed will be given the legal 10 days in which to make his own repairs. If not completed within the 10 days the city, under the plan suggested Tuesday night, will do the work and charge the cost to the property owner. All cement walk contractors favored the plan to supervise the work and use the city's men so far as possible.

The announcement of the city's plan to do needed repair work to walks, crossings and streets, has brought out a large number of unemployed men seeking work. The council and city engineer will work with the poor commissioner in placing people on jobs.

POLICE PROBE SUDDEN ATTACK ON MENASHA

Stanley Pikula Struck in Face as He Leaves Car Near His Home

Menasha—Menasha police are investigating a mysterious attack on Stanley Pikula, 12 Lawson st., about 10 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Pikula had driven to the curb near his home, the report stated, when a man approached the car, pointed a gun at Pikula, and told him to get out of the car. He complied with the order, but the attacker, without warning, struck Pikula in the face, opening a cut near one eye.

Leaping from his car, Pikula ran to escape, and in his flight fell and injured an arm, police were informed. When questioned today by Chief of Police James Lyman he was unable to explain the cause of the attack or furnish a complete description of his assailant. Police did not believe that robbery was the motive of the attack. Pikula is at Theda Clark hospital.

John Pikula, a brother of Stanley, has recently been employed at the International Wire works plant where a strike is in progress. Stanley Pikula is not employed at the plant, and John is not a wire weaver, it is said.

Need Bobbed Hair For New Hat Mode

BY JANE EADS

New York —(P)—Many women whom have held out thus far against scissors and fashions are now having their "crowning glory" shorn that they may wear the season's newest chapeaux.

The long bob, curled into soft little ringlets over the nape of the neck, is most popular, as is the swirl. But there is noted as much individuality of coiffure as of costume. Happy is she who can dress her hair to best frame her face as she is dressing her figure to emphasize her personality.

Arched eyebrows marched out of fashion's favor along with short skirts. The natural brow line, well cared for, is much more beautiful. Makeup for eyelids, however, is more than ever in vogue, and rouge is dusted higher on the cheek. Sometimes for evening a dainty beauty patch is worn. The eyes, you see, are mirroring the soul of fashion—intrigue, seductiveness, "clinging vine" charm.

Fertilization is an art which thrived in the days when a lady dropped her kerchief hinting she wished a proper introduction to the gentleman her fancy caught. One shop is showing the most exciting bits of lace and linen. Some of the whiffs of real lace soar to nearly 50 a piece.

Umbrellas are no longer ugly shelters against the elements, nor can you so easily forget them. They are as smart as a gentleman's walking stick and have elegant handles of carved crystal, jade or amber. Many of these are shaped after a bird or dog head.

When a woman turns her back this season, be not disgruntled. You will find them very interesting. In fact the back of the dressers gowns are more intricately fashioned than the front. Many evening gowns of velvet have narrow stripes of ermine over the back. Some of satin have crossed straps of jewels. A number of models have cut out places over the small of the back.

Challis is a quaint but modish material for the creation of a little girl's dress-up dress. Knitted tweeds and plaid woollens are exceptionally good for school days and wash fabrics are still popular.

GERMANIAS TO SPONSOR FREE HEALTH LECTURE

RHINE VALLEY 1931 VINTAGE MAY BE NAMED FOR HOOVER

Coblentz, Germany —(P)—The picturesque tradition surrounding the gathering of wine grapes is in full swing throughout this valley of the Rhine.

This year many foreigners, particularly Americans, are making this city their headquarters for short jaunts into the celebrated vineyards which criss-cross the slopes of the hills of either side of the river for miles.

Particularly are the foreigners exhibiting interest in the so-called "dry wines" in view of the fact the Alsace growers are reported to consider naming the 1931 vintage wine after President Hoover.

The new wine, if named for the American president, isn't causing the growers of the Moselle and Rhine valleys much consternation, for their products have endured throughout centuries.

Among the cheaper wines, Liebfraumlich is enjoying much popularity, vintages as old as 10 years costing but $1.50 a bottle.

Ballistics Expert Sued For Findings In Murder

Washington —(P)—Ballistics, one of science's newest weapons in the war upon crime, may face a second test as the result of the unsolved slaying of Mary Baker here in April, 1930.

Calvin H. Goddard, ballisticsian of Northwestern university, crime school at Chicago, brought about the first test when he announced the opinion bullets from the gun of Herbert M. Campbell killed the youthful navy yard girl employee.

Campbell, acquitted nearly a year ago, expected legal notice he was suing Goddard for $750,000 to be given today to the criminologists at Richmond, Va.

Two actions are being brought by Campbell in the circuit court at Richmond.

TAX REVISION IS FOUGHT BY MAJOR PARTIES

Insurgents of Both Groups Certain to Demand Higher Rates

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — (CPA)—Statements issued by Republican as well as Democratic leaders protesting against tax revision at the coming session of congress are not at variance with the way the Hoover administration feels about it, but may be taken as an attempt to offset the almost certain effort of insurgent members of both parties to force higher rates of taxation.

The theory that the way to get more revenue is to increase the tax rates on the higher incomes is still tenaciously held by radical members and because of the possible use of such an issue in the forthcoming campaign the administration is naturally reluctant to express itself until the position of all elements is developed when congress reconvenes.

There is a substantial majority in congress favoring a slower retirement of the public debt rather than increased taxation. The argument is made that fully ten billion dollars of debt has been cut off in the ten years ending 1929 and more than four billion of this sum was not required by the law creating a sinking fund.

In other words, a huge surplus was built up out of which the treasury has cut down the public debt and while this is an approved policy, because it means that annual interest charges have been reduced by almost half a billion dollars a year, it is argued that there is no need for continuous reduction in the public debt during the world wide depression.

Deficit to Grow

As a consequence of the deficit last year about six hundred and sixteen million dollars was added to the public debt and the prospects are that nine hundred million dollars will be added during the coming year. On this basis, if a billion and a half dollars should be added to the total debt of the country the United States would still be approximately eight and a half billion dollars ahead of its total debt.

The revenue from income tax receipts will be sufficient to balance the budget. If the depression continued for several years, the treasury would be compelled to resort to greater efforts to collect money by taxation and would be forced to abandon the policy of borrowing in order to pay deficits.

While nobody here believes that the depression is going to last "several years" there is a general conviction that it will take another fiscal year before the present tax rates can possibly begin to bring in the necessary funds to meet expenditures.

But with a presidential campaign and congressional elections coming in November, 1932, it is unlikely that any effort will be made to revise the tax rates until next year, hence, in December, 1932, by which time it will be possible to determine whether the depression shows any signs of clearing up and whether the present tax rates are going to be adequate to take care of deficits without further increases in the public debt by borrowing.

ERECT STEEL, CONCRETE SEATS AT CAMP RANDALL

Madison — Erection of new steel and concrete seats on the east side of the stadium at Camp Randall will increase the permanent seating of the structure by 2,000 units this fall. Since, however, these sections replace temporary wooden bleachers torn down last spring, they will add nothing to the total capacity.

The new seats will be in every way more comfortable and convenient than the ones they replace. They will be fully enclosed by a 3-inch slab of re-enforced concrete and have been designed to fit into the plan of ultimately double-decking the west stands.

Contractors now have all steel in place and are erecting forms for concrete work. The new seats will be available for the Purdue-Wisconsin game, Oct. 17. They will be the highest seats in sections D, E, F and G—all between the 10 yard lines. Most of the season ticket purchasers will be placed in these seats.

SECURE DEEDS ON TAX DELINQUENT PROPERTY

Madison — (AP)—County treasurers have been advised to secure deeds to tax delinquent lands and to place them under the forest crop law by the legislative interim committee on cutover land.

This announcement was made by Sen. J. H. Carroll, Glidden, committee chairman, who was here over the weekend to make arrangements for hearings to be held throughout northern Wisconsin by the committee starting Sept. 14.

With approximately $400,000 available under the forest crop law, counties may collect 20 cents an acre in state aid on land registered with the state under the law. One half of this money is allotted to the counties and the remainder is paid in lieu of delinquent taxes.

BRAIN MUSEUM

Vienna—The most curious museum in the world, housing human brains, has been established here. The brains of many of Europe's greatest men are lined up in preserving jars in the museum. More than 1000 persons now living, and who have achieved some degree of fame, have bequeathed their brains to the museum. It is expected that the study of these brains will yield much valuable scientific information.

Detroit — (AP)—Between 15,000 and 20,000 former employees of the Ford Motor company went back to work Tuesday. Letters were sent out last week asking the workers to return. Ford officials said they planned to have 50,000 men at work by the middle of September.

Dixie Land's Drawl Marks Stars Who've Come From South For 'Big Time' Fame

You can spot these girls by their southern accent, if you listen closely to the talking screen. Left to right, they're Rosalie Roy of Texas, Miriam Hopkins, who hails from Georgia, and Peggy Shannon, whom Arkansas is proud to claim.

Hollywood —The Dixie drawl is holding its own with Oxford and Broadway English in the talkies, and voices that first sounded in the land of cotton are being heard from the screen from many new stars.

Most of the players, of course, have lost much of their genuine drawl among the madra lanes of Broadway.

But talkie audiences still may detect traces of magnolia land speech in the players who hail from below the Mason-Dixon line.

Texas Claims Many

Texas, which gave Hollywood many bright lights including Mary Brian, Lela Daniels, Corinne Griffith, James Hall, Bessie Love and John Boles, now offers Lucille Browne, Rosalie Roy, Claudia Dell and beautiful Adrienne Ames.

Two outstanding new comedians—Roscoe Ates and Una Merkel—who use their voices to enhance their humor, are southerners.

Ates, the stuttering comic, from Hattiesburg, Miss., came to Hollywood after vaudeville, with stuttering learned from a negro on a New Orleans wharf.

Another Mississippi in pictures is Gavin Gordon, from Chicago, who played opposite Greta Garbo in "Romance."

Miss Merkel, from Kentucky, is a lovely blonde, whose pronounced drawl has cast her in comedy roles since her screen debut in "Abraham Lincoln."

Also from Kentucky come Irene Dunne, heroine of "Cimarron," Joyce Compton, Arthur Lake and Tom Douglas, new juvenile from the stage.

Then There's Tallulah

From Alabama, which already has given the screen those southern drawls of Johnny Mack Brown and Dorothy Sebastian, comes Tallulah Bankhead via the London stage, with a new and vibrant personality.

Georgia, home state of Ben Lyon and Juliette Compton, was the birthplace also of Miriam Hopkins, petite blond comedienne of "The Smiling Lieutenant."

Two movie stalwarts, Richard Arlen and Jack Holt, and one comedian, William Haines, are natives of Virginia, while Arkansas has a dazzling daughter in Peggy Shannon, who took Clara Bow's place in "The Secret Call."

Ruth Hall has added new movie laurels to those already given Florida by Evelyn Brent, the star, and Leatrice Joy still upholds the banner of Louisiana. Kay Francis is a product of Oklahoma City.

Carmen Barnes, the young writer who was made a "star" without an apprenticeship, never did a picture, after all the ballyhoo, but Dixie Lee is still here from Tennessee and Dorothy Jordan, who came out about the same time as Dixie, is almost a star.

ALCOHOL PERMITS CUT BY YELLOWLEY

Chicago — (AP)—E. C. Yellowley, supervisor of permits of the bureau of industrial alcohol, reporting Tuesday for his first year's work, said that he had reduced the number of alcohol permits in Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin by 7,519.

The bureau was established as part of the treasury department in June 1930 and Yellowley was transferred to it from the prohibition enforcement office.

The reduction was accomplished by disapproval, cancellation, surrendering, revocation or expiration of permits. The department made 8,334 inspections and held 740 hearings.

There were 22,176 permits in force during the year, 10,457 of them held by physicians, and 4,717 issued since April 1 under a new regulation to dentists. Physicians Yellowley said, used only 12,583 prescription books, less than 31 per cent of the maximum number allowed them.

MORTGAGES ON REAL ESTATE ARE OLDEST KIND OF INVESTMENT

Still Considered Desirable if Selected Properly and Carefully

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES

(Copyright 1931 by News Press)

New York—The oldest form of investment is the real estate mortgage. As far back as there are any records real property has been pledged as security for loans. It is still a desirable investment if properly selected. Savings banks and other financial institutions employ it constantly.

It has the disadvantage for the individual investor of lacking marketability. A real estate mortgage runs for a fixed period, usually 3 to 5 years, and in the interim it cannot be realized upon as a rule. Sometimes if the holder shops around he may find a buyer for his mortgage, but even then he usually has to sacrifice something. It is therefore suitable for those who are primarily concerned with safety and rate of return but who do not expect to use the principal before the maturity of the mortgage.

Lacks Appeal

It lacks all speculative appeal. A mortgage investment may increase in value in the sense that the equity back of it increases but it does not increase in market price for it has no market and there is no opportunity for a speculative profit. On the other hand, again if conservatively chosen, it does give a higher yield than almost any other investment medium of comparable quality.

Every real estate mortgage loan differs from every other mortgage loan. One share of corporate stock is like every other share but each piece of real estate must be appraised separately. It is therefore possible to lay down only general rules for such investments. There should be a sufficient margin between the value of the property and the amount of the loan but just what a sufficient margin is depends on many factors.

What the lender wants is the return of his money on the agreed

FEDERAL FARM BOARD'S PLANS BETWEEN FIRES

American Shippers' Association Criticizes Group's Proposal

Washington — One sure way to get into trouble is to propose a remedy for some situation. Two to one, it will be accomplished on one side and hooted on the other.

The Federal Farm Board is in the cross-fire at present. When the proposal was made to trade 25,000,000 bushels of wheat for 1,050,000 bags of Brazilian coffee, the great American prairies could have reverberated with joy.

But now the American Shippers' Association is howling. All the carrying of the exchange commodities is to be done in Brazilian ships. They will bring cargoes of coffee to New York and take cargoes of wheat back to Brazil and American ships will not participate—at a time, says the association, when shipping is particularly bad. So they yell.

And if millions of persons start raising their own food, the farmers raising the food for them now will balk. So will the grocers, middlemen, railroads, butchers, canners, and so on.

The Farm Board was at one time trying to whop up a greater consumption of wheat. Raisers of other foods from the farm protested that this was discrimination against them because the more wheat people ate the less they would eat of other products. So the Farm Board piped down.

The board's co-operation activities are supposed to be good for the farmers, but they threaten the large and important grain trade. So the board and the grain trade consider themselves in a war to the death.

Prohibition was undoubtedly a boon to rum-hounds and makers of furniture, automobiles, radio sets and what not, but it was tough on the liquor and beer business and their hundreds of thousands of employees—as well as on the U. S. Treasury.

Causes Much Trouble

When other countries become more self-sufficient by growing or manufacturing more of the things we used to export to them it's supposed to be fine business for these countries. But it causes much trouble over here.

Universal disarmament, looked upon as desirable, would throw millions of men onto the employment market, hurt some industries and obliterate others.

People shouldn't eat as much meat in summer as winter, but when the U. S. Public Health Service announced the fact recently the livestock and packing industries made a big squawk here.

Then take the tariff, which benefits any industry protected but keeps up prices and restricts international trade.

Henry Ford promises next year to fire every married man at his upon date and interest at the agreed rate meanwhile. In the event of default he may of course foreclose but that is an expensive process. It is resorted to when there is no other means of securing payment. If, however, foreclosure is the only way out the investor wants to be sure that the property will bring at forced sale if necessary the principal of the loan. Hence the vital importance of having a reliable appraisal before making the commitment.

179 DEATHS CAUSED BY HEAT LAST JULY

Madison — (AP)—Hot weather was the direct cause of 179 deaths in Wisconsin last July, exceeding by 15 the number of heat deaths in the previous month, the state board of control reported today.

July was the hottest in the history of the state, as far as records show, and was a reported factor in many additional deaths. There were only 11 deaths from the heat in July, 1930 and an equal number in July, 1927. The 1928 July toll was 13, that of 1929 only seven. Records show 87 deaths for July, 1930.

By George Clark

"Shay, offisher, how about getting behind and giving me a push? Sheem to be stalled here in middle of street."

Iron Mountain plant who doesn't have a vegetable garden. He proposes gardening as a method of self-help and a substitute for unemployment insurance.

Quite recently, the wheat farmers and cotton farmers of the country also have been urged to raise their own vegetables, their own chickens, cows and hogs. President Melvin A. Traylor of Chicago's First National Bank says if every farmer will produce his own milk, dairy products, meat, poultry, fruit and vegetables we won't have to worry about farm relief. Traylor says there are no cows or chickens on 20 per cent of farms, that 30 per cent are hogless and 90 per cent sheepless, while farmers buy all their food at stores.

Carl Williams, cotton member of the Farm Board, gives the same advice to a couple of million cotton farmers, most of whom are said to operate on a one-crop basis. If food is being raised on the premises starvation won't be so likely when they go broke. And then again, the more land taken to raise vegetables and hens the bigger the dent in the cotton surplus.

RADIO AD FIGHT ECHOED IN PLEA FOR AIR RIGHTS

Community Radio Wants 25 Channels for Stations in 267 Cities

Washington — (AP)—The biggest application for broadcasting facilities ever made by a single organization is scheduled for consideration by the federal radio commission after its summer recess.

The request of C. R. Cummins, trustee for Community Radio, a projected corporation at Williamsport, Pa., that 25 channels be made available for use by stations to be established by the corporation in 267 cities, is set for hearing October 16.

Newspapers Watching

The project has created much interest, commission officials say. It has attracted the attention particularly of newspaper publishers who oppose the encroachment of radio stations in the news and advertising fields.

Closely watching the Cummins case is the American Newspaper Publishers' association, which is preparing to fight in congress and elsewhere the alleged unfair competition of stations that with the aid of a government franchise engage in broadcasting news and direct advertising.

Cummins, in his application, requests that the commission make a reallocation in the broadcast band "in order that 25 of the present 86 channels may be set aside for the exclusive use of community radio stations."

These channels would be allotted to community stations in cities having a population between 10,000 and 100,000.

Proposed Limit

No station would be granted more than 100 watts power and no station given greater than one watt for each 1,000 inhabitants within the limits of its city. Cummins proposes that 25 adjacent channels of 10 kilocycles width be subdivided to provide 125 adjacent channels, each having a two kilocycle separation.

Community Radio proposes to operate stations, he says, in 267 cities in Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin.

FORMER BADGER BOY TO RETURN TO ITALY

Owen — (AP)—Myron Duncan, former Owen boy, today made plans to return to Naples, Italy, where he has been re-engaged to sing leading tenor roles in the Royal San Carlo opera for the next two years. He has been visiting his parents here.

Duncan's voice already has brought him fame throughout Europe. Three years ago he made his debut at Belluno, Italy, singing in Madame Butterfly. Since that time, he has appeared in more than 150 performances in leading Italian opera houses.

He left Wisconsin six years ago to study voice and musical art in Europe. In Milano, Duncan was under the guidance of Maestro Ugo Benvenuti, student of the composer and director, Mascagni.

1,400 PUPILS AT NEW LONDON BACK IN SCHOOL

Slight Increase in Enrollment at High School Is Reported

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London—Approximately 1,400 children turned their backs on vacation and on Monday and Tuesday returned to school. The Catholic school opened Monday, and on Tuesday McKinley, Lincoln and Emmanuel Lutheran grade schools and the New London high school reopened.

The morning hours in most of the grades and high school were devoted to the distribution of book lists and registration. In the high school, 401 students reported for classes. This is a slight increase over last year. The assembly room as usual was taxed to its utmost capacity, and students were assigned to benches and chairs in addition to the regular seating accommodations. Class rooms again will be used for students using during study periods.

Classes were started this year, many of them comprising between 35 and 45 students. This condition is not different from last year, and though in many ways unsatisfactory, it is unavoidable until the completion of the new high school. R. J. McMahon, superintendent of schools, points out that though fully 125 more high school students attend school now than 7 years ago the faculty staff has one less teacher than at that time. He said that the solution has been reached by the formation of larger classes and the maintenance of the best teachers obtainable. Mr. McMahon stated that the "program" for this year had been changed slightly and that because of this fact it was possible to hold classes during the opening day of school.

$3,185 IN RECEIPTS FROM HOMECOMING

Success of Venture from Financial Standpoint Still Undetermined

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London—Whether the three-day homecoming sponsored by the American Legion post was a financial success will be known this week when the total expense has been checked. Total receipts show that $3,185.44 was collected, but as yet no check of expenses has been made. It is believed, however, that the final figures will show a small net profit.

With Monday as the big day it was estimated that the largest number ever to attend a local homecoming was on the grounds. Though it was impossible to judge the numbers the traffic officer, Albert Meertz, and his assistant, William Wittman estimated the crowd Monday afternoon and evening at approximately 5,500. No admission was charged, but because of the two lanes of traffic, one maintained for entering the grove, the other for leaving it, the constant stream of cars was handled with little congestion.

The maintenance of a dancing pavilion, according to officials of the legion, proved a failure, as the expense of the pavilion was as great as construction of the pavilion more than tripled the receipts from the dancers. It has been suggested, however, that the pavilion be retained for a time.

CLINTONVILLE NINE WINS FOURTH GAME FROM MARION TEAM

Athletics Trim Central Wisconsin League Pennant Winners Labor Day

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Clintonville—The Athletics of this city, 1931 pennant winners in the Wolf River Valley league, walked two strong opposing teams in weekend games. Sunday, Marion took a 4 to 0 beating from the Athletics, this being their fourth defeat by Clintonville this season.

Labor Day, the Clintonville Athletics journeyed to New London where they whitewashed the Central Wisconsin League pennant winners, 5 to 0. This game was a feature of the American Legion Homecoming celebration at New London and was attended by a large crowd. Joe Petek, spectacular hurler for the Athletics, struck out 20 men and allowed New London only three hits. He was supported by Bouciah behind the plate. Westphal and Meyers, the battery for New London, allowed seven hits and had five strikeouts. Petek was the only local man to make a two-base hit. Two scores were made in the second inning and four in the seventh.

Joe Probst pitched Sunday's game at Marion, allowing only three hits and striking out 11 men. Bouciah was on the receiving end for the Clintonville team. Murphy and Lacey did the team work for Marion, the former allowing 10 hits and struck out five men. Two base hits were made by Ben Sievers and McQuere of the local nine.

Sievers, first baseman for the Athletics, was the star player Sunday, getting three hits out of four and fielding a perfect game. The runs were made as follows, one in the third inning, two in the fifth and one in the seventh.

This was the last league game of the season for Clintonville, who holds first place in the Wolf River Valley league. They won 18 games of the 20 played. In other games Sunday Tigerton beat Neopit 8 to 4, and Waupaca beat Wittenberg 8 to 6. Marion and Neopit were both defeated Sunday, so are still tied for second place in the league. A game between these two teams will be played at a later date. They won 11 games out of 20 during the past season. Tigerton ranked fourth with 10 wins. Tigerton holds fifth place with 6 wins and Wittenberg has sixth place with only 4 wins.

Clintonville Boosters defeated Bear Creek 11 to 6 Sunday, in a championship game on the local diamond. The Boosters now hold first place in the Tri-County league. Batteries were Frank Plangan and Ed Lohmeyer for the Boosters; Myron Marshok and Clarence Smith for the Boosters. Clintonville collected 12 hits, while Bear Creek collected only eight.

Would Change "No Race" Ruling In Speed Boat Contest

THIRD CRAFT IN MEET FINISHES THE LAST HEAT

George Wood Now Lays Claim to Title for Miss America VIII

DETROIT (P)—Miss America VIII floated around the Detroit river course alone at 50.849 miles an hour yesterday in what may be the last of the third heat of the Harnsworth trophy race.

Two days after Gar Wood, American defender, and Kaye Don, British challenger, were disqualified in Monday's heat for crossing the starting line ahead of the gun, no one knew for certain whether there was a Harnsworth race.

The International Racing commission ruled Monday evening the 1931 attempt to lift the embargo of water speed supremacy was "no race."

Yesterday, Gar Wood's brother, George, who piloted Miss America VIII to last place in Sunday's heat, which Don won with a record breaking average speed of 59.913 miles an hour, and who was the only driver to finish Monday's heat, protested the "no race" ruling. As a qualified member of the American team, he demanded the right to run the third heat and thus "win" the trophy for the United States, rather than allow it to remain here solely on a challenger's disqualification.

Request is Granted

W. D. Edendurn, of Detroit, representative of the Yachtsmen's Association of America on the racing commission, granted Wood's request. He said, however, Charles F. Chapman, of New York, the other member of the commission, would have to concur in his ruling before the "no race" verdict could be altered.

From New York last night came word that Chapman was of the opinion that the 1931 renewal should stand as "no race." He added, however, his belief that it is a question for the Yachtsmen's association, as the national authority, to decide.

Edendurn had left Detroit for Toronto last night before the word from Chapman was received.

The point at issue is whether any name shall go into the records of the international competition and on the trophy plaque as the 1931 winner.

Edendurn's ruling of yesterday, that Miss America VIII "won" the race by completing half of the 30 mile distance, the name of a 13-year-old boy probably will be recorded as the winner. He is Garfield Arthur Wood, Jr., son of Gar Wood, who has held the trophy since 1920. He is listed as owner of the only boat to complete the race. George Wood's name under those circumstances would go into the records as driver of the winning boat.

Boat Is Raised

Don's II floated in England II, which was swamped by the wash from Gar Wood's Miss America IX at the first turn Monday, was raised from the bed of the Detroit river yesterday. Its hull was badly damaged, while the powerful motors which had driven her to a world straightaway record of 110.223 miles an hour in Italian waters, had suffered from sudden immersion while hot from high speed. They will be repaired at the Ford Motor Company of Canada plant in East Windsor, Ont.

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

SPORTS fans are a fickle group and no sooner had the last echo of Valley league baseball died away last Sunday than the fans started talking about going to Green Bay Sunday to watch the Packers perform in their first game.

And it would seem that the Bays certainly are going to have a great club again this season, probably even a better one than performed last season and won the second consecutive title.

Fans who Sunday saw the Bays work out before a ball game up there marveled at the dash of some of the boys among others Russ Saunders former U. S. C. player and Mickey MacDonald who used to perform with the Chicago Cardinals.

Mickey is well known to most grid fans and we'll never forget the afternoon Russ ran 95 yards with a kick off against Notre Dame at Soldiers Field, Chicago, while 123,000 persons stood up and cheered or yelled for an Irishman to stop the fleet footed back.

The Bays have much new material this season and many old timers. However, after the third game they'll cut down and probably the old boys will be looking on from the side lines or reading about the game in the papers.

And now they'll have to find some other reason for the Cubs getting beat—Hack Wilson, the goat for all the other boys because he didn't hit a home run every day, has gone on his way, suspended for the remainder of the season without pay.

There's no doubt Hack will be seen in another uniform next season and perhaps he'll stage a comeback. His suspension wasn't so out of the ordinary when one considers he had a big contract this year and certainly has failed to produce. Whether that was because he couldn't and wouldn't work for Rogers Hornsby we don't know. At any rate it seems Hack was blamed for most everything whenever the Cubs lost a game.

Monday he sat in the stands with the fans until the boeing got the best of him and then moved on to other places. Hack has been accused of imbibing quite freely and perhaps he did. Yet he seemed to produce for Joe McCarthy who was so rudely disposed of last season when a bunch of punks that couldn't play ball for even the great Hornsby were chased into second place by the genial Joe and just missed first place by a couple points.

And while all the trouble is brewing on the Cub squad and the team loses a flock of games in a row, pile the following from New York. Jake Ruppert of the Yanks is talking:

McCarthy is a splendid manager. He has exceeded my fondest hopes. In spite of all sorts of handicaps he has made a remarkable showing with the Yankees this year. It was my good fortune to find him open for an engagement last fall and signing him was a ten strike.

Where are the guys who last fall said Hornsby would win the pennant with that flock of Cubs and McCarthy wouldn't finish in the first division with the Yanks?

Read an article by Bob Edgren the other day in which the well known sports scribe and California boxing mogul said there is no reason why Jack Dempsey can't come back and teach the present crop of heavyweights a good lesson. Bob says Jack is just the age of Bob Fitzsimmons when Bob won the heavy title. Also says Jack is in fine health, never drank, smokes seldom and continually keeps in the best physical condition. Their's pleasing words to old followers of the Manassa Mauler.

Ken and Phil Dickinson were at Chicago to watch the amateur golf tourney so Billy Phil says.

Liz Blackbourne again is back at Washington high. Milwaukee and Bill Smith is at West. Memories of what used to be in football around Lawrence.

Reports from Milwaukee are Frank Murray will have but seven letter men back and a lot of recruits. Just a few, very few, words of consolation in that report for Coach Percy Clapp of Lawrence.

Johnny Roach has been named district chairman for the eighth district Olympic committee for the 1932 games. Johnny doesn't know what the job means but he hopes he'll get a ticket to at least a hot dog eating contest on the west coast next year.

Gotta letter from a Milwaukee club asking for basket ball games. Imagine it. That guy's away ahead of time. Wants to play 98 inch teams—high, not wide.

Going to any Wisconsin games this year? Have a whole flock of ticket applications in my desk. Yours for the asking.

RECRUIT PITCHERS HAVE SHOWN WELL IN SENIOR LEAGUE

Lefty Grove Turns Back Washington Senators for 28th Victory

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

THREE recruit pitchers have made brilliant debuts in the National league in the last few weeks.

Jim Mooney, formerly of Bridgeport, came from nowhere to become one of the New York Giants' stars. Monday Van Mungo stepped up from Hartford to pitch a great game for Brooklyn and now Bill Harris, who just came to Pittsburgh from the Pirates, has joined them in the high places.

While Mooney was winning his sixth straight game for the giants yesterday, Harris pitched his first for the Pirates and won it by a shut-out. He allowed the Cincinnati Reds only five hits in a brilliant duel with Jack Addie and Henry Grey and earned a 3 to 0 victory. The Pirates made only four hits, but two of them were combined with two walks off Ogden and an error in the first inning to produce all three runs.

Beats Giants 4-3
Mooney, who has yet to taste defeat in the big league, hurled the Giants to an even break in their doubleheader with Philadelphia. Phil Collins downed the Giants for the second time in a row in the opener, besting Bill Walker 3 to 1 as the Phils scored three times in the fifth. Mooney, although hit ten times, was effective in all but one inning of a struggle against the Philadelphia Athletics. He pitched the eighth inning to produce a 4-3 victory.

Another good pitching performance came from Austin Moore of Brooklyn in the remaining National league game. Moore relieved Babe Phelps with the bases full and none out in the first and pitched nine full frames to win 10-6 as his supporting cast hit three Boston pitchers hard and dropped the Braves into a tie with Philadelphia for sixth place.

Grove Wins No. 28
The outstanding American league mound performance again was left in the capable left hand of Robert Moses Grove of the Philadelphia Athletics. Grove set Washington down with seven hits and fanned seven to record his twenty-eighth victory of the season against three defeats. The Senators kept things close until the seventh inning when an eight run assault, capped by Jimmy Fox's twenty-sixth homer, scored a run himself in the eighth and the season drew Sam Jones from the mound and made the final score 10 to 1.

The defeat left Washington only one game ahead of the New York Yankees, who, with Boston, had an off day.

Cleveland continued its spurt by taking two games from the Chicago White Sox to make it six victories in three days. The Indians were out hit in both games but came through with a late rally against Bob Well-

JACKIE BERG HOPES TO BEAT CANZONERI

New York (P)—Jack (Kid) Berg bases a strong belief that he will whip champion Tony Canzoneri in their 15-round lightweight title match at the Polo Grounds tomorrow night on the fact that the battle will take place in New York.

The mauling British battle points to the fact that he never has been beaten in a New York ring, all of the defeats that mar his record having been suffered in other sectors of the fistie battle field.

Chicago has been Berg's particular hoodoo city. He was stopped there by Billy Petrolle and Canzoneri, knocked him out in three rounds in the same city last April when Berg made his first bid for Tony's 136-pound diadem. In New York Berg gained decisions over both Petrolle and Canzoneri.

That takes in several city blocks when you stop to consider Sheboygan sponsored some crack teams back in the days when outlaw baseball was in flower and when high priced stars, most of them former major leaguers, were lured to these parts by big salaries.

The champions of 1929 were a truly great semi-pro team. Two of their members are now in organized baseball—Johnny Posavitch of Springfield, Mo., in the Western association and Joe Norris with Terre Haute in the Three-I league. But, compared man for man, the present edition of Chairmakers has a distinct edge over the club of two years ago.

Paul Beyers, serving his third year as manager and catcher, is one of the real stars of the team. The veteran shortstop directs play and handles his pitchers with an ability born of long experience with Brooklyn in the National league and a score of other teams. He is a dangerous hitter of the long range variety and possesses a deadly throwing arm.

Buster Braun, the 45-year-old patriarch of the mound, is having one of his best seasons and has made a spectacular comeback after slipping in 1930. His spitball and his uncanny control have earned him a record of 10 wins and 3 losses, and he has blossomed forth as a slugger of some consequence.

Most managers are satisfied with one pitcher who can win consistently, but Sheboygan has two. Manager Beyers has picked Wally Young, a big right-hander, from nowhere and converted him into the Wisconsin State League's best pitcher, a statement which is supported by his season record of 8 wins and 2 defeats, both by one-run margins. He started out by winning six in a row. Young won his spurs in the Chicago last year but was inclined to be wild. This season he has shown better control, has learned the tricks of the curving trade and has developed a sizzling fast ball and a baffling curve.

The infield is a veteran aggregation which includes the team's leading hitters. Ray Quasius, third sacker who played in the Cotton State league for three seasons, returned home this year and led the league in hitting with an average of .377. Frank Lindsay pressed him and finished third among the hitters with a .367 average.

Backstop and football star was an all-conference forward with Sheboygan in the Fox River Valley high school conference a few years back. He is one of the best second basemen in the league and one of the most valuable members of the Chairmakers. Scotty Zuehl, a defensive ace, is stationed at short. Earl Cheslow, who led the league in hitting with Madison last season, plays first. The veteran, who has served in some of the best minor leagues in baseball, is a graceful performer around the initial cushion.

Norris, Badura on Team
Buck Krauss, Pete Norris and Joe Badura are the regular outfielders. Krauss leads the team in home runs and has been offered a contract by the Milwaukee Brewers next season. He is a husky lad of 21 years and seems destined for a successful career in baseball.

Norris, one of the few holdovers of the championship team of 1929, is the only recent star to strike at the plate and is expected to cause plenty of trouble in the series with Kaukauna. Joe Badura, converted into an outfielder after playing first base last season because of his hitting power, made a game bid for the league battling crowd but slumped in the last two games.

Two new acquisitions, Tony Schanz, young infielder who sits in at short occasionally, and George Baron, diminutive speed merchant who was a regular outfielder in 1929.

New Orleans—Sammy Mandell, Rockford, outpouted Owens Duvernay, New Orleans, (10).

MERCHANTS BEAT WEYAUWEGA, TAKE 2ND PLACE IN C. W.

Defeat Appleton Athletics Monday Afternoon in Non Loop Game

Appleton Merchants moved into second place in Central Wisconsin league standings Sunday when they defeated the Weyauwega club, 8 and 0 as Weyauwega walked three hits. The Roman was pounded for 16 hits by the Appleton chubbies, one at a home run by Buss with the bases loaded.

Weyauwega was the home half game edge over the Wega nine.

On Monday the Merchants stepped out and played the Appleton Athletics of the Little Fox league. Neither club had its regular players but the Merchants copied the decision 8 and 0. Buss toiled after the fourth frame relieving Baumann who started the game.

Next Sunday the Merchants will play a double header with New London at Wilson school grounds.

CENTRE GRID STAR IS WINNER OVER BIG BULL

Danville, Ky. (P)—Centre college has a bull-fighting fullback who should be a tower of strength to his college this year. He is Dan Long, 21 pounds, of Augusta, Ark. Returning from football practice last yesterday Long he added an extra session of drill by tackling a bull that had strayed from a stockyard and was charging right and left on Danville streets.

Long grabbed the bull's neck, threw it to the ground, and held the animal until it was roped. He emerged from his experience with only a few scratches.

Won't "Pass The Buck" To Advisory Grid Committee

ADISON—Judging from the comment of press and public, there seems to be a wide spread misunderstanding of Head Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite's plan for an advisory football committee at the University of Wisconsin this fall.

The commonest misconception of the plan seems to be that the advisory committee is to assume a certain responsibility for the actual coaching of the team—technique, tactics and the like. Others have assumed that this innovation is something more or less forced upon the head coach by others, either in or out of the department. A few have taken it for granted that the members of the committee—Director George Little and Coach Tom Jones, Guy Lowman and Dr. McArthur—will even get out on the field in football regalia and take a hand in pepping up the boys. Pikes have been offered for "harmony and cooperation" between the coaching staff and the committee.

Originated With Glenn
All this talk is wide of the mark. To begin with, the plan originated with Coach Thistlethwaite. Consequently, he is naturally and emphatically in favor of it. Second, he did not announce it until he had conferred with the men he desired on the committee and secured their acceptance.

Had there been any question about their willingness to cooperate, the plan would never have been announced. Third—there will be no division of responsibility.

Coach Thistlethwaite was at some pains, in announcing the plan, to make it clear that he and his staff would do the coaching and would "pass the buck" to no one for the results obtained. The advisory committee will have nothing to do with the actual coaching of the football team. That was never contemplated.

On the other hand, many problems arise in the handling of football which affect other Wisconsin sports—problems which are more or less common to all sports. Decision of these questions should be in conformity to a general policy. What is done in one sport affects all the others and consistency of policy in such matters benefits all.

This is not primarily a matter of football coach. Both Coach Thistlethwaite in football and Coach McArthur in basketball have in the past conducted practically all their drills in private. Spectators have been excluded in the interest of having the practice free from distractions and of permitting the coaches to get maximum results in the limited time they have with their squads each day.

Consider Open Practice
Last season, Dr. McArthur announced that if sufficient interest was shown by students and other supporters of Badger athletics, he would hold one open practice a week. His experience in that matter will be of interest to Coach Thistlethwaite. George Little, Tom Jones and Guy Lowman will also be able to contribute something of value to the discussion. Little has had to decide the same matter both at Wisconsin and elsewhere. Jones and Lowman do all their coaching in the open.

This is only one of a number of football problems whose solution is intimately tied up with the interest of other branches of athletics at Wisconsin but it is fairly typical of the subjects to which the football advisory committee will give consideration.

The suggestion that the creation of this committee may result in a division of responsibility and a lack of harmony between different elements in the Wisconsin athletic department is an injustice both to Head Thistlethwaite, whose idea it was, and to the four veteran members of the staff who in good faith, accepted his invitation to cooperate with him in a purely advisory capacity.

Victory learned his football at a Youngstown, Ohio, high school, later matriculating at Kiski, eastern prep school. Two years later he enrolled at Lafayette. At that time there was no first year residence rule in operation, and as a yearling he quickly earned the call as first string fullback.

Walter Camp made a special trip to the Yale-Lafayette contest and was so impressed with the youngster's work that he named him the outstanding fullback of the country. In 1923, Don joined the old Canton Bulldogs. The next season he played for Cleveland, and so great was his reputation that the management of the old Potsville squad in the Pennsylvania coal regions offered him an exorbitant salary.

Elliot jumped to Cleveland and next year finished the campaign with Potsville. He was quickly suspended by President Joe F. Carr of the National league for violating his agreement with the Cleveland organization. Now, six years later, Elliott has completed his exile and has been signed to play with Cleveland.

He is still a young man, passing his 25th birthday late in August, and displays the same daring, rumping type of line plunging that stamped him as one of the all-time greats of eastern collegiate football.

PRO GOLFERS GATHER AT GLENS FALLS MEET

Glens Falls, N. Y. (P)—Most of this country's leading professional golfers, including the national open champion, Billy Burke, are seeking some part of the $3,500 prize money hanging up for the Glens Falls open, starting here today.

Burke, who has kept in trim with exhibition matches since he won the open crown in a marathon playoff with George Von Elm, heads a strong field that includes Von Elm, Gene Sarazen, Johnny Farrell, Ed Dudley, Bobby Cruikshank, Willie MacFarlane, Wiffy Cox, Joe Turnesa, Al Espinosa, Joe Kirkwood, Johnny Golden and Cyril Walker.

Thirty six holes of medal play today out the field to 60 for the final 36 holes tomorrow. Par for the course is 70.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS BEAT KENOSHA, 4 TO 1

Kenosha (P)—The St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Kenosha All-Stars, 4 to 1, in an exhibition game for a milk fund benefit here yesterday. George Watkins' home run in the fourth inning precipitated a three-run rally for the visitors. Attendance was 3,500.

KING LEVINSKY TO RESUME RING WARS

Chicago (P)—King Levinsky, heavy fisted heavyweight from Chicago's west side, will resume activity in the fight business in a ten round bout with Con O'Kelly of Boston, tonight in the White City arena.

O'Kelly lost a decision to Tuffy Griffiths in his first Chicago appearance, but made himself solid with the spectators by his rousing fight. Levinsky also lost his last battle, finishing a shade behind Ace Hudkins early in July. The former fish merchant will be heavier than in previous engagements, scaling around 192 pounds, with O'Kelly weighing close to that figure.

CLEVELAND ELEVEN LEAVES LATE THIS WEEK FOR GREEN BAY

Bulldogs Open Professional Season With Packers Sunday Afternoon

CLEVELAND, O.—Headed by Al Cornsweat, Brown university back and erstwhile Rhodes scholar intellectual, the Cleveland Bulldogs will leave late this week for Wisconsin, where next Sunday they will open the National professional football league season against the champion Green Bay Packers. The Bulldogs expect to arrive in Green Bay Friday night and will warm up on the Packers gridiron Saturday in preparation for Sunday's contest.

Staff press assignments have toughened the Bulldogs as the game date nears. Talent from a variety of colleges and universities is included on the squad, headed by Cornsweat and his Brown university running mate, Dave Miffel, quarterback.

"Doc" Elliott, Lafayette All-American, is a budding fullback, whose it is expected will lead the Packers backs drawn close to the line of scrimmage, and the Bulldogs also boast three members of last year's Portsmouth squad: Roy Novotny, Ashland college back; "Chuck" Ralwood, Tennessee end, and Bob Jesson, Iowa State tackle.

All-American Men
Cornsweat and Miffel both were all-Americans as members of Brown's "iron man" team, which once, on successive Saturdays, tossed Princeton, Harvard and Yale threats into the gridiron scrap basket. Other players on the Bulldogs include Algie Clark, Ohio State; Chuck Weimer, Wilmington; Dr. P. Wilson, Penn. State; Arthur Danziger, Michigan State; Otto Volaky, Heidelberg; Hope Workman, Ohio State; all backs; Buck Lamme, Ohio Wesleyan; John Hurley, Washington State; end; John Ridler, Michigan State; Paul Mundy, Kansas, tackles; Dick Cullen, Geneva; Bill Greigold, Dennison; Al Nesser, Cleveland, guard; and Bill Stewart, Western Maryland, guard.

Army, and Bill Critchfield, Wooster, centers.

The Cleveland management is seeking a satisfactory summer resort, located conveniently in Wisconsin, where his charges may rest and practice in the interim between the Packers game next Sunday and the contest with the Chicago Bears on Sept. 20. After the Bear game Cleveland opens at home, meeting Brooklyn as a starter.

Of the many heavily padded players who will represent Cleveland during the 1931 season, none will be accorded more recognition than the four veteran members of the staff who in good faith, accepted his invitation to cooperate with him in a purely advisory capacity.

SAM
 BY FREEMAN LINCOLN

SYNOPSIS: Sam Sherrill is in love with Freddy Munson, reporter on the Express, but refuses to marry him because she believes she needs money to be happy and Freddy needs freedom. Peak Abbott, owner of the newspaper, asks Sam to marry him as a business proposition, gambling on the chance that she may later care for him. Sam finds a decision about Peak more difficult, because she is involved in her family's affairs. She has promised her dead mother to keep her half-brother, Nelson, and her stepfather, Fourth Aldersha, out of the poorhouse. Aldersha, a con-man, has discovered her half-brother dancing at a restaurant with the maid of all work, Martha Givens, and Nelson asks her what she is going to do about it.

Chapter 6
NELSON STATES HIS CASE
 "I'm not going to do anything. I just thought that you'd be interested to know that I'd seen you."
 Sonny stood in front of the davenport with his long fingers clenched into fists and his eyes smoldering. At last he said savagely: "I know what you're thinking. You don't have to tell me. You and Fourth think that I'm having an underhanded affair with a servant girl, and that I ought to be ashamed of myself. Well, I'll tell you this much: He came over and stood close beside her, blurring his words. 'I'm not having any affair, do you understand? I'm not having anything of the kind!'"

"All right, Nelson," said Sam mildly, "I believe you. Please don't about."
 "And as for being ashamed of myself," he continued swiftly, bitterly, "I'm not that either, and you and Fourth can go to the devil!"
 He began to pace up and down, excitedly, emotion working in his face. Sam watched him calmly. "Fourth doesn't know anything about this," she said quietly, "and you haven't heard me hint that I thought you ought to be ashamed of yourself, have you?"

He laughed sharply. "You may not have hinted it, but I know what you think. Underneath, you and Fourth have the same ideas; root ideas about class and caste and all that rot. To me, people are just people, and if I like them I don't care whether they earn their money by street cleaning, or ditch digging, or waiting on table. I, at least, have the courage of my convictions!"

"I suppose so," said Sam, suddenly weary of the whole affair. "But if you have the courage of your convictions why have you kept it dark that you've been running around with Martha?"

"I wonder!" Sonny laughed. "I suppose Fourth wouldn't have hit the roof. I suppose he wouldn't have fired Martha as quick as a wink. I suppose he wouldn't have made my life miserable with his jawing, from then until the end of time. Oh, no! Oh, not at all!"

"Probably you're right," said Sam with a sigh, "but I don't see why you get so excited. Fourth doesn't know, he doesn't have to know. You aren't going to tell him?"

"No. It would only make trouble."

When she returned to the stable after the routine business of marketing in the village there was a yellow car standing at the front door. Sam's heart almost stopped beating when she saw it, for the car was a distinctive shade of yellow. She knew at once that it was a taxi; a city taxi, startlingly and almost absurdly out of its element.

Sam shut off the motor with a hand that trembled and ran swiftly across the drive to the front door. (Copyright, Freeman Lincoln)

Sam decides tomorrow whether she will leave home. What is the note she finds, which reads: "Try to forgive me?"

Washington — The people in the immigration service of the Department of Labor do not like to have it said that they are as hard-boiled as to be willing to deliver aliens into the hands of foreign governments when the aliens are reasonably sure to be executed.

They are refusing to discuss the case of Tao-Hsuan Li, the Chinese Communist student whose life is said to be seriously imperiled by a deportation order, on the ground that the case is in the courts. But they insist that Li will not be deported through any fault of theirs. The fact is, that if the Labor Department ever sends a deportee to his death in the face of protest it is never going to hear the last of it and that fact is likely to have a delicate effect in such cases as that of Li.

Deport Only One
The immigration service maintains that it has only deported one person who, as far as anyone knows, was subsequently executed by the authorities of the land to which he was sent, namely because of political activities.

A few years ago immigration inspectors near the Mexican border picked up a Mexican colonel who had been in one of the insurrections, who was in this country illegally and was alleged to be plotting to blow up an important train below the Rio Grande. He was wanted in his own country as defendant in a civil case and Labor Department officials say they received assurances from the very highest quarters that there would be no political action against him if he were deported. They deported him, however, and the colonel was hardly across the border before he was stood up before a firing squad and killed.

Other aliens might have met similar fates if their friends hadn't yelled murder and persuaded the immigration service to allow them to depart to countries other than those to which they ordinarily would have been deported. It may be that if the Wickersham commission investigators hadn't criticized the handling of Tao-Hsuan Li's case and if the American Civil Liberties Union hadn't vigorously protested the proposed deportation of Li to China, Li might long since have been sent away and decapitated.

Li is a boxer indemnity student of engineering at New York University and he was arrested on the charge that he had been an active Communist in New York. His appeal from the deportation order is now before the federal circuit court. The Labor Department will not take any further action until the case gets out of the courts. Li wants the deportation order rescinded so that he may depart voluntarily to Russia. A photostatic copy of a letter from the secretary of the Chinese legation here has been presented on his behalf to Secretary William N. Donk and it says that "membership in the Communist Party is punishable by death in China."

Same as Death
In the past aliens who protested that deportation to their home countries was equivalent to a death sentence have been allowed to depart voluntarily to other countries, but the Wickersham investigators reported an apparent recent change in policy in the cases of Tao Hsuan Li. Immigration officials declare there has been no change of policy. They assert that they will continue to avoid turning over political refugees to governments which want to execute them. All of which may be some comfort to Li and his friends who have been fighting to save him, although they can't be certain of anything until they get definite action.

SCHEDULE COURSE IN TRAINING FOR POLICE

Madison — (P)—Invitations calling for representatives from every city and village in the state to attend the course in training for police officers here Oct. 26 to 29 were mailed by the League of Wisconsin Municipalities today.

The course is sponsored by the league, the Wisconsin Chiefs of Police association and the extension division of the University of Wisconsin. Dr. A. G. Barry, Chicago, is the director of the course.

Some of the subjects to be treated during the course are the detection of crime and identification of criminals; laboratory specialists and police problems; defense and offense for policemen; technical problems of traffic control; methods of operating of thieves; knowing the beat; the gangster; the fugitive in the small community; the law of arrest; law and rules of evidence; observation; use of machine guns, gas and tear bombs and other weapons and equipment; first aid in police work.

PLAN GAS TAX
Salt Lake City—It is highly probable that Utah will levy a gasoline tax on all gas used by airplanes in the state. The decision of the U. S. Supreme Court, which recently permitted Wyoming to levy this tax, is said to have influenced Utah in this direction. Last year an agreement was made with airlines not to collect this tax.

Milwaukee — Believe it or not, John McCallum was only waiting for a street car. He was arrested as a vagrant and told to get out of town. But police picked him up again the same night in the street car waiting station. He was taking his time getting out of town, although he did not say whether he intended taking a car.

NOTICE:—
I am still at my OLD LOCATION. Expect to be in my new office in the Zuehlke Building some time in October.

Professor Returns To Wisconsin As Job Ends

BY DOROTHEA J. LEWIS
(Post-Crescent's Washington Society Editor)

Washington—Asher Hobson, newly appointed professor of Agricultural Economics at the University of Wisconsin, did not lose much time in leaving the National Capital for Wisconsin's capital. His resignation from the department of agriculture, where he headed the foreign agricultural service division, was effective August 31, and that very same evening he was driving briskly toward the Badger state.

Mrs. Hobson, the daughter of the late Congressman Dabie of Mt. Horeb, has been spending the summer in Wisconsin. Early in the summer, Mr. Hobson journeyed abroad to attend the Fifteenth International Congress of Agriculture, held at Prague, Czechoslovakia.

Mr. Hobson has been connected with various activities of the federal department since 1914 and he and Mrs. Hobson spent 7 interesting, busy years abroad in Rome as Mr. Hobson was permanent American delegate to the International Institute of Agriculture.

He has only been back in this country for two years, returning in August, 1929, to join the staff of the Giannini Foundation in Agriculture of the University of California, and later, being granted a leave of absence, coming to Washington. Gracious hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Hobson will be much missed by their friends here. A little group of Wisconsin people who have a Badger State bridge club will be particularly bereaved. The members of this club are Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Juve, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Marquis, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Stine, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Calender, and Mr. and Mrs. Asher Hobson, all former University of Wisconsin people and most of them now connected with the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Hobson ends his affiliation with the little club in a burst of glory, taking the high men's prize for 1930-31.

This transfer is distinctly Washington's loss and Wisconsin's gain. Commissioner Balthasar Meyer of Madison of the Interstate Commerce Commission, now busily engaged in carrying on the Chicago hearings on the railroad's proposed 15 per cent freight rate increase, is hoping that the hearings will end in time for him to go back to his summer home at Brule, Wis., and rejoin Mrs. Meyer and his daughter, Sylvia, before he is due back at his desk in Washington.

Sylvia left the National Capital before her parents and was picked up by them as they drove through Madison on their way to their old farm-summer home, which they have owned and visited for the last 20 years.

Further hearings on the freight rate case which will require Commissioner Meyer's presence in Washington have just been scheduled for Sept. 21.

The Secretary of Commerce, Robert Patterson Lamont, is expected back in Washington after the holiday weekend. He has been with Mrs. Lamont at their home at Land O' Lakes, Wis.

Apparently the list of Wisconsin-Washington European voyagers was not exhausted by our long discourse of last week or just maybe it is decided that Miss Katharine Lamont of Superior, Assistant Chief of the Children's Bureau. Anyhow, she sailed for Europe Wednesday night at midnight aboard the exciting and gorgeous liner, Paris.

She was accompanied by Miss Emma Lundsberg, a University of Wisconsin graduate, who now makes her home in New York. Miss Lunds-berg was at one time in charge of the women's work of the Wisconsin Industrial Commission.

The two adventurers will spend five weeks in France, Italy and Switzerland. The trip is doubly fun for Miss Lamont as she did not know until just a little while before her sailing date that she would be able to go.

Dr. and Mrs. Deids O. Kinsman, formerly of Appleton, have been back in Washington for a little more than a week now after a three weeks' trip to Wisconsin. They visited Appleton and Whitewater.

Wednesday Dr. Kinsman spoke before the Washington Rotary club at the Willard Hotel, discussing his Russian trip of last year. He also addressed the Appleton Rotary Club during his Wisconsin visit.

Miss Mary Louise Browne of Appleton returned to Washington Tuesday after summering in Michigan. She was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Mary Louise Kellerman of Indiana, and both stayed with the Kinsmans for the remainder of the week while Miss Browne's apartment was put in order. Miss Browne was at one time dean of women at Lawrence college and Dr. Kinsman was a member of its faculty. She holds a similar position at American University here and Dr. Kinsman is chief of the economics staff of the University.

Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Dwight of Racine and their daughter, Miss Mary Isabel, are expected back in the National Capital this week. They had planned to divide the vacation between their summer home in Michigan and Banff, Canada. They should have interesting and thrilling things to tell.

Mrs. William P. Notz, wife of the Dean of the Foreign Service School of Georgetown University, has been a member of the Annapolis Roads Club, a delightful and rather new resort near Washington, and much of her time is spent there on the beach with her children.

Dr. Notz, a Watertown man, is now abroad on a study tour.

Mrs. J. W. Crabtree, wife of the former president of the River Falls Normal School, is planning a three or four weeks' continuation of her stay with her daughter, Mrs. Stephen Walker, at her home, Tower Hill, near Cincinnati.

Until her marriage in New York less than a week ago, Mrs. Walker was Miss La Verne Crabtree. Another of her summer visitors was Miss Eunice Crabtree who journeyed to Porto Rico after leaving Ohio and has just returned from the tropics to busily prepare for the opening of her school, the Maryland State Normal School, this Tuesday.

Mr. Crabtree is secretary of the National Education Association.

Who's News Today

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press New York — (CPA)— It was the ruddy, immaculate gray-haired Senator Lawrence C. Phipps of Colorado who built President Hoover's prosperity slogan in 1928. "Prosperity is the sole issue of this political campaign," he insisted repeatedly, and made it stick.

Thus, the senate group advancing the former senator to succeed Senator Phipps as republican national committee chairman picks a man of proven party usefulness, with only one slight lapse in his record of Hoover loyalty. He blocked the movement to instruct the Colorado delegation for Hoover, at Colorado Springs in April, 1928, but subsequently remained in the Hoover camp and supported the Hoover policies, particularly in water power.

One of the lions of the old guard, Phipps stems from the boom epoch of American industrialism when steel took the scepter from old king cotton. When he was 17 years old, he was a weigh boy and mucker in a Pennsylvania coal mine.

When he was 40, he was vice president and treasurer for the company which first employed him—the Carnegie Steel Co.—and had money enough to retire on, which he did. He went to Denver and established a tuberculosis sanitarium in memory of his mother. In 1904 and 1905, his sensational divorce case flared the Phipps name all over America and Europe. His wife was given a settlement of $750,000 and the family mansions in Denver and Pittsburgh. In 1918, he entered the senate from Colorado, remaining in office until last year, when he was one of the three richest men in the senate.

A pink and white old Greek warrior with a copy of the odes of Pindar in his tail coat pocket engages in a rapier duel with a Balkan diplomat—bloodless, however. Premier Venizelos, within the last two years has become an unyielding pacifist. He meets Premier Malmoff of Bulgaria in an encounter over war debts at Geneva, but never again will Greece fight anybody about anything. "We've had enough fighting," he says, "and we're neutral in any war that starts anywhere over anything."

For fifteen years, Pericles bossed Athens in the name of democracy, and shrugged when his enemies called him a dictator. Thus, the bald, white-bearded immaculate Venizelos, with his odd, double peaked black silk cap. A small time lawyer in crete, he told the king he could make Greece a going concern.

In the wars of 1912, with King Constantine leading the troops and Venizelos running things, Greece became twice as big as it was before. "I didn't make those wars," says Venizelos, plaintively. "I merely won them." He looks like Bernard Shaw, but is gentle and self-deprecating in manner. He recently concluded a pact with the Turks which ended a 600-year feud. He wants no more wars.

John W. Davis, formerly of Clarkburg, Va., quietly returns from Europe with his handsome face still unlined and his shoulders still erect. Almost ostentatiously healthy, Mr. Davis bears up well under the burden of not being president of the United States just at the moment.

The defeated Democratic candidate of 1924 is probably the most tactful man who ever ran for president or held an important office. When he was ambassador at the court of St. James he prepared what was to have been the most brilliant speech of his career, when the Prince of Wales returned to the mansion house from Canada. The young prince denounced his audience to cheers by a most eloquent and moving address.

It was the high point of the occasion. Ambassador Davis, who was to follow, sensed an anti-climax and possibly questionable taste in the eloquent harangue reposing in his hip pocket. He kept it there and murmured only a few felicitous words.

Similarly decorous was his campaign for the presidency. He did maintain that republican prosperity was a hollow shell which later would crumble, through inflation and high tariffs, but he says nothing about all that now and sticks to his law business, as one of the great leaders of the American bar. His clients have included J. P. Morgan, Jr., Eugene V. Debs and "Mother" Jones.

SON OF SENATOR AND DAUGHTER OF METAL WORKER ARE MARRIED

Fairmont, W. Va.—(P)—The story of how he sloped to Cumberland, Md., with the 16-year-old daughter of a Fairmont metal worker, was told to a society editor here last night by John Champ Neely, 17, youngest son of United States Senator M. M. Neely.

Young Neely called at a local newspaper office and announced that he and Mary Kathryn Faust, a classmate in Fairmont high school, had motored to Cumberland Aug. 1 and were married by the Rev. W. A. Eisenberger at the First Presbyterian parsonage.

"Aren't you Senator Neely's son?" the young man was asked.

"Yes," he replied with a smile, "but you needn't mention that."

Sensor Neely said today he had learned of his son's marriage only yesterday. He declined to comment further.

The young couple, who are seniors in high school, plan to continue their studies. They are making their home with the bride's father, Henry Faust.

Young Neely recently won a West Virginia state oratorical championship.

JACES INVITED TO OSHKOSH CLUB PARTY

"WINTER DAMAGE" TO CLOTHING LAID TO AIR CHEMICAL

Chimneys Belching Smoke Are Among Chief Sources of Acid

Washington — (P)—The mystery of "winter damage," holes and rents that appear without warning in cotton fabrics hung out to dry, apparently has been solved by the bureau of standards.

Housewives and laundry owners long have been vexed by "winter damage." Good garments were ruined by rents that appeared as if by magic, even in new material. Often the only clue was that the damage seemed to occur only in winter.

Chimneys belching smoke from countless furnaces apparently are the main, though indirect, cause of the trouble, says John B. Wilkie, bureau of standards chemist.

The smoke increases the amount of sulphur dioxide in the air. This chemical, mixing with oxygen in damp garments hung outdoors, to dry, turns into sulphuric acid. The acid, concentrated in parts of the garment that dry last, causes the rents, he says.

"Winter damage" occurs chiefly in localities where the water is "soft." Soft water does not contain bases, chemical substances that neutralize strong acid.

New England is one of the principal sufferers from "winter damage" because the water there is prevaillingly "soft."

FRESH VOLLEY OF SELLING HITS STOCK MARKET

Early Rally in Several Issues Wiped Out by Development of Pressure

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER

Associated Press Financial Editor

New York—(AP)—The stock market poked its head up today, only to attract a fresh volley of selling.

A little flurry of short covering sent several issues up a point or so in the morning, but heavy pressure against General Motors, and further soggy news in the rails and utilities, developed by midday. There were numerous losses of a point or two. The bond market was again dragged down by the rail issues.

General Motors sagged more than a point to within a fraction of the year's low. International Harvester and National Biscuit were soft spots, losing more than two points to record new minimum levels. Dupont sagged in sympathy with General Motors, losing more than 3 1/2 points.

Considerable buying of included issues losing a point or two included Consolidated Gas, Columbia Gas, American Telephone, National Power, and Light, Eastman, Gillette, Woolworth, Atholston, Union Pacific, New York Central, Illinois Central, Nickel Plate, Reading, and others.

Some of the gold mining issues were bid up, however, notably Alaska Juneau and Homestake, the latter recording a new high for the year. Air reduction rallied on announcement of the regular and regular extra dividends.

The midweek business statistics provided little impetus to the market in either direction, and the price movement appeared to be governed by uneasiness over dividends. The further cut in New York Central's quarterly payment from $1.50 to $1, after the reduction from $2 earlier in the year, had been fully discounted by recent selling of the stock, which recorded a record low for the century yesterday.

Considerable uncertainty over maintenance of the $3 annual rate by General Motors is being felt in brokerage circles, and selling of the stock was coincident with brokerage house gossip that the rate may be reduced to $2.50.

Unofficially, the corporation's third quarter earnings are around 25 cents a share, as compared to the current quarterly dividend of 75 cents. The corporation might continue to pay dividends at the current rate, nevertheless, in view of its strong cash position, which is improved to the extent of $8,000,000 in the first three months of the year. Nevertheless, it takes $32,925,000 to pay a quarterly dividend at the current rate of the $3,500,000 common shares.

The regular payment announced by Western Union yesterday has caused a little uneasiness in the communications issues, and brokerage circles are now inclined to look for the regular quarterly payment of 50 cents by International Telephone, when directors meet tomorrow, although earnings are believed to have been somewhat less than that.

There have been further rumors of selling from abroad in the stock market this week, particularly from London. The German situation, however, continues reassuring, what with the rally in the Berlin bourse, and the stronger position shown by the reichsbank in its weekly statement. The latter showed gains in both gold and foreign exchange reserves, particularly the latter. The Reserve Ratio improved to 42.2 per cent, compared to 39.3 last week.

The weekly steel trade reviews showed a moderate curtailment of output, largely as a result of the Labor Day holiday, although it is not generally recognized by the steel mills. A quick rebound to the level of a week ago is expected, but conclusive signs of seasonal improvement are still lacking. Several observers, however, expect operations to rise from the present curtailment to around 30 per cent of capacity to about 10 per cent before the year-end slump. Freight car loadings rose about 15,000 cars in the week ending Aug. 29, the best gain in some time, but still under the average upturn for that period for recent years.

NEW YORK RAILROAD REDUCES DIVIDEND

50 Cent Cut Expected by Wall Street for Some Time, Report Says

New York—(AP)—The New York Central Railroad company today reduced the quarterly dividend from $1.50 to $1, making the second reduction in the dividend rate this year.

A reduction from the $6 annual rate had been expected in Wall Street. The $8 rate was established in 1924 with the payment of a quarterly dividend of $1.50, and marked a reduction from the $8 rate which had been in effect from Aug. 1, 1927. The $8 rate was an increase from $7 effective Aug. 1, 1923, after payments at $5 during the previous eight years.

The $4 annual basis established today is the lowest for this leading eastern trunk line since 1914. In which year it paid only $3.75 a share. The common stock sold yesterday and today at $60.37 a share, the lowest of the century.

OPEN SCHOOLS IN KAUKAUNA FOR NEW TERM

Increase of 37 Students Reported by High School Principal

Kaukauna—All of Kaukauna's public schools opened Tuesday morning. Trinity Evangelical Lutheran parochial school also opened. Classes at the high school began Tuesday afternoon. In the morning students paid their book rent and rearranged their schedules for the first semester. All of the student programs were filled out by Tuesday noon.

An increase of 37 students was reported Tuesday noon by Principal Olin G. Dryer, who had charge of the enrollment, as 413 students were recorded in comparison to 376 in 1930. Of the total enrollment 117 are freshmen, 116 sophomores, 103 juniors, and 77 seniors. In order to seat the entire number of students in assemblies, several of the recitation rooms are being used. There is no place for some of the students to place their books and other school supplies. One of the history rooms will be used as a library, according to Mr. Dryer.

There was but one replacement in the high school staff, that being a music instructor to take the place vacated by the resignation of Miss Barbara Baldwin. Miss Lucille Austin will fill the vacancy. There were two other changes in the staff of the grade schools.

Miss Cell Hoehlin will take the place vacated by the resignation of Miss G. Schulte, and Miss Phyllis Heintz of Green Bay will succeed Miss F. Gerend. Teachers who will return to the high school staff are: Principal Olin G. Dryer, James McGrath, George Haack, Stanley Bergum, Bernard Rice, Paul E. Little, Misses Myrtle Sand, Ethel Handran, Carol Walker, Francis Corry, Eleanor Bounds, Edith Porterfield, Lilian Hembre, Marcelle Thompson, Vida Shepard, Cecelia Calvey, and Ann Gibbons.
